Harris Names Two Reform Committees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two special commissions liberally sprinkled with reform advocates but with minimal representation from old-line machine leaders were appointed Saturday by Democratic National Chairman Fred R. Harris.

The primary group, headed as expected by Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, will attempt to carry out the 1968 convention's mandate to make delegate selection procedures more democratic for 1972.

Harris appealed meanwhile to the Republicans to join the reform effort, which will require changes in many state laws.

A second commission, whose chairman will be Rep. James G. O'Hara of Michigan, will study party rules, including those for the convention and all of its committees.

Leaders Consulted

Harris said in announcing the 27-member commissions that he had consulted with top party leaders, such as former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, Eugene J. McCarthy and Edmund S. Muskie.

But, in response to questions, he said he had not talked directly with such powerful party chieftains as Mayors Richard J. Daley of Chicago, James H.J. Tate of Philadelphia and Joseph M. Barr of Pittsburgh.

Nor were any mayors included on either commission. Harris said a prime requirement was "that those appointed believe in the mandate of the convention."

Hughes Named

Named to the McGovern group was Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and two other members of a special commission whose broad-ranging recommendations last summer formed the basis for the new effort.

McGovern said later he plans to name Hughes as chairman of a subcommittee and told the news conference the Hughes recommendations will serve as the starting point for the commission's work. He said he hopes at least an interim report will be ready by mid-summer.

Besides Hughes, the commission includes Rep. Donald M. Fraser of Minnesota and attorney Frederick G. Dutton, who served on the Hughes group; Mississippi Negro Leader Aaron Henry; Texas Democratic Chairman Will Davis; Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana; Adlai E. Stevenson III, state treasurer of Illinois who was blocked by Daley last year from a place on the state Democratic ticket.

Other members include President I. W. Abel of the United Steelworkers of America; Harvard Prof. Samuel H. Beer; New York National Committeeman John F. English; former Deputy National Chairman Louis Martin, a Negro; Gov. Calvin Rampton of Utah; and National Committeewoman Carmen Warschaw of California.

To Hold Hearings

McGovern said the commission would hold field hearings in five or six parts of the country.

At the same time, Harris asked state Democratic chairmen to name reform groups within their states and appealed to Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss to set up a similar group so the two parties could work together to improve and modernize the nominating and electoral process.

Eagleton Named

The rules group includes Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri; Reps. Patsy T. Mink of Hawaii and Charles Vanik of Ohio; former Gov. Edward T. Breathitt of Kentucky; Bronx, N.Y., Borough President Herman Badillo; former Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro of Illinois, who headed the 1968 convention's rules committee; National Committeeman Channing Phillips of the District of Columbia; and two leaders of McCarthy's campaign. former National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell and Donald O. Peterson of Wisconsin.

Names Committees

Washington — Democratic National Chairman Sen. Fred Harris (left) appointed two 26-menber committees to carry out the party's mandate for reform. At a news conference, Harris announced the selection of Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., to head a commission of party structure. (UPI)

Large Spacecraft Launch Delayed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Rocket problems Saturday forced a one-day postponement —until Sunday—of a Defense Department attempt to launch the largest communications spacecraft yet developed.

The $30-million experimental craft—forerunner of a satellite network that could link military units on the front lines, in aircraft and ships at sea—is now scheduled to blast off at 4:09 p.m. EST Sunday, the Air Force said. It was originally scheduled to be launched at 4:13 p.m. Saturday.

Air Force spokesmen said there were indications of a short circuit in an ordnance system aboard the satellite's Titan 3C rocket. Officials said they could not pinpoint exactly where the short occurred, but believed it was either in explosive ordnance packages used to separate booster stages in flight or in destruct packages placed aboard the rocket for safety purposes.

The destruct packages would be ignited to blow the rocket apart if it strayed toward populated areas.

The postponement was called just 2½ hours before the launch was to have taken place.

Called TACCOMSAT for Tactical Communications Satellite, the 1,600-pound payload 6½ hours after launch was to settle in a stationary orbit 22,300 miles above the equator off the west coast of South America, almost directly over the Galapagos Islands.

Packing a cluster of antennas atop a soup-can shaped body, the two-story-tall spacecraft was designed to test the feasibility of using satellites so mobile military units can communicate over great distances.

TACCOMSAT's size permits it to be powerful enough so ground forces can use portable, lightweight receiving antennas as small as one-foot in diameter. The Defense Department has a network of 25 smaller relay satellites girdling the globe, but they require larger, less portable ground receivers.

The larger TACCOMSAT would allow front line troops to receive warning messages from rear headquarters, for example. Aircraft could talk with one another and with ground units, and small patrol boats could more easily contact a shore base during periods when lightning storms might disrupt terrestial radio communications.

Initially, TACCOMSAT was to be tested by Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine units in the United States. Knowledgeable sources said, however, that the payload may be shifted westward to a position over the Pacific nearer Asia for use in Vietnam if the satellite passed a testing program scheduled to take several months.

If TACCOMSAT proved feasible, Defense Department funds might be sought to purchase three or four such satellites for a worldwide network. Each of the units, placed in stationary orbit, would be able to reach one-third of the earth's surface.

Soviets Rapped By Italy's Reds

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) — Luigi Longo, secretary-general of the largest Communist party in the western world, told a wildly applauding audience of nearly 5,000 comrades Saturday that his party condemns Soviet actions in Czechoslovakia.

In a major speech opening the 12th national congress of the Italian party, Longo also rejected Soviet attempts to blame "imperialistic" actions of the West for the plight of Czechoslovakia.

Longo's praise of the Czeckoslovak liberalization program and denunciation of the Soviet-bloc invasion to halt it brought loud applause from most of the 1,000 Italian delegates and 4,000 observers including a delegation from Prague, as they sat beneath a red hammer and sickle flag.

But the three-man delegation from Moscow and representatives of other eastern bloc countries sat in grim silence.

Report New Trials For Accused Spies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Press reports from Egypt and Syria said Saturday Iraq has placed another group of defendants on trial charged with spying for Israel and the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Iraqi President Ahmed Hassan el Bakr, who announced Thursday that the new trial was coming up, said no Jews were among the accused.

Four leading Iraqi merchants were among an unknown number of defendants in the new trial, according to Egypt's Middle East News Agency and the Syrian Arab News Agency in dispatches from Baghdad.

The Egyptian report quoted Iraqi sources as saying the defendants were charged with setting up a spy ring under supervision of an Israeli military attache in neighboring Iran.

All the accused, said the Egyptian news agency, were arrested before the coup of last July 17 which brought el Bakr to power. One of them, Kamel Ibrahim al Shukurji, died in jail 10 days after being arrested. Two of his relatives are among the defendants appearing before Iraq's revolutionary court, the agency said.

Launch Daily Attacks From Seventh Fleet

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. 7th Fleet is launching 100 to 125 planes daily to attack the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos despite the shortage of one carrier, American military sources said Saturday.

Four instead of the usual five carriers operate in the waters off South Vietnam, they reported, because the nuclear-powered Enterprise was ravaged by explosions and fire in a bombing training exercise 75 miles from Pearl Harbor Jan. 14.

Despite the fact the Enterprise was laid up for at least three months of repairs, the Constellation was allowed to return to the United States last month. The Enterprise was to replace the Constellation.

Operating now are the Hancock, Kitty Hawk, Coral Sea and another unidentified because she is changing stations and therefore cannot be named. There are no plans now to call in another carrier.

"Even with less carriers, we are maintaining the intensity of our strikes over Laos by flying harder and taking fewer breaks from the war," said Vice Adm. William F. Pringle, 7th Fleet Commander.

His mention of Laos by name was unusual. The U.S Command in Saigon never comments on operations against the Ho Chi Minh trail, North Vietnam's lifeline through Laos. This is because Laos, under terms of the 1962 Geneva agreement, is officially neutral.

It has been no secret in Saigon, however, that since bombing of North Vietnam was suspended Nov. 1, the U.S. Air Force and Navy jets have been concentrating their blows on the Ho Chi Minh trail.

The aim is to slow the flow of North Vietnamese war material and troops moving along the trail to South Vietnam. It is believed the Air Force flies from 200 to 300 sorties daily against Laos from bases in Thailand.

Terror and attempted sabotage were main developments in the absence of any large scale fighting. Thirty-five Vietnamese civilians were killed and 53 were wounded in 11 incidents reported by government spokesmen.

Two of the major incidents were in central Vietnam. A bus hit a mine, killing 14 and wounding 17. An explosive went off in a village market place, leaving eight dead and 30 wounded.

National police produced for newsmen in Saigon three men and a woman, saying they were a suicide squad that intended to blow up planes at the capital's Tan Son Nhut airport.

Three American civilians were fired on from abush 19 miles east of Saigon Saturday morning. Two were killed and the third was in a U.S. Army hospital with burns suffered when their jeep exploded and burst into flames. The names of the men, who worked for a U.S. firm, were withheld.

Predicts Cuts In Defense Spending

Congress Will Take Extremely Close Look

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said Saturday Congress is going to "put a microscope" on the $81.5-billion defense budget and predicted some substantial cuts in military spending.

Voicing a Republican viewpoint, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said there is a "real determination in Congress that the military budget is never again going to be treated as a sacred cow."

Mansfield and Javits spoke in separate interviews as 12 Senators and 38 House members — the bulk of them classified as Democratic liberals — joined in a statement calling among other things for a thorough analysis of defense spending to bring it "into reasonable perspective."

The 50 called for speedy ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, arms-limitation talks with the Soviets and reconsideration of previous decisions to go ahead with the antiballistic missile system.

The statement, issued by Rep. F. Bradford Morse, R-Mass., praised President Nixon's pledge to devote his administration to world peace. "We add our own pledge to his," the group said.

Mansfield, the Senate majority leader, said Congress is in a much more critical mood about defense spending than it ever has been before. He attributed this in part to the uproar over the Sentinel ABM system on which Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has temporarily ordered work stopped.

"I think there can be substantial savings in this field if we face up to the facts and away from the myth that this system is directed at China," Mansfield said. "I was glad to learn that President Nixon had not bought the idea that it was intended only to counter China and not Russia, as is the fact."

Mansfield said he expects to concentrate his efforts on cutting out of the defense budget research-and-development projects that have little if any, bearing on military requirements.

Mansfield expects to have the cooperation of Chairmen Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Appropriations Committee and John Stennis, D-Miss., of the Armed Services Committee, in his search for reductions.

Crash Near Marshall Kills One

One youth was killed and six injured in a one-car accident on U. S. Highway 65 about four miles north of Marshall at 12:30 a.m. Saturday.

Dead on arrival at Boone County Memorial Hospital in Columbia was Charles Brayman, 19, Marshall.

Ky's Mood Subject Of Some Speculation

Onlookers wondered whether Ky's demeanor before boarding a commercial jet for the homeward trip reflected discouragement with the course of the Vietnam peace talks here, political difficulties in Saigon or perhaps a combination of both.

Ky is ordinarily loquacious, affable and far from averse to answering questions. But in the VIP lounge, he replied to queries mostly with monosyllables and faint shrugs.

Ky appeared to want to parry questions about whether he would return to Paris, where he is coordinator of Saigon's conference delegation, in time to be on hand for President Nixon's arrival here on his European tour.

"I don't know if I will be in Paris at the moment of President Nixon's trip," he replied to newsmen's questions

Was he encouraged or discouraged with the peace talks? He shrugged and replied: "We do our best."

The announced purpose of Ky's homeward trip is to report to President Nguyen Van Thieu and to spend Tet, the lunar new year holiday that begins Feb. 17, with South Vietnamese troops.

There has been speculation in Paris and Saigon that his trip may be connected with impending changes in the South Vietnamese government.

Thieu and Ky are elected officials whose offices would not be affected by a cabinet shakeup. But changes could be connected with internal difficulties at high level in Saigon, possibly reflecting renewed differences between Thieu and Ky. They have clashed in the past.

Nixon Asks For Reports On Space Spending Cut

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon Saturday asked advisers for reports on possible cuts in America's space program and studies of redirecting the space effort after the man-in-the-moon project is completed.

Nixon had indicated space cuts were in line during the campaign and, last May in Washington, said he would support cuts because of what he termed then the "great financial crisis" confronting the United States.

The president also ordered a look at the effectiveness of water pollution control activities, taking the action from his bayside villa where he was spending the weekend amid balmy Florida breezes.

The weather was so good—clear skies and temperatures in the upper 70s—that Nixon took some papers and went for a two-hour ride on Biscayne Bay aboard a houseboat certified safe by the Coast Guard just last Thursday.

The work papers evidently outlined some of the problems and points that will face him on his five-nation, eight-day trip to Western Europe that starts a fortnight from Sunday.

Nixon had with him his top foreign policy experts, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and National Security Adviser Henry A. Kissinger. Nixon spent time with them in the morning.

All together, the President issued four directives Saturday to federal departments and agencies calling for recommendations or action on a wide assortment of subjects.

Another, issued Saturday at the White House in Washington, directed the Budget Bureau to see that agencies get out facts and figures on time and on strictest schedule and not for any possible political effects. This would apply to such things as regular monthly consumer price indices, data on unemployment, and foreign trade.

The order on the space program went to Dr. Lee DuBridge, presidential science advisor. The White House said Dr. DuBridge was asked for "a report on possible cost reductions in specified portions of our space program, and for an assessment of recommendations that the Department of Defense and National Aeronautics and Space Administration be directed to coordinate studies in this

In addition Nixon asked for a recommendation on setting up a committee representing various agencies "to advise on the scope and direction of our post-Apollo space program." Apollo is the effort to land men on the moon and bring them back safely.

Plug of Cement Seals Oil Well

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A well squirting raw oil into the blue Pacific for 12 days was sealed Saturday with a big plug of cement, and workers began a massive mop up of blackened harbors and beaches.

A hundred men pumped 8,000 barrels of drilling mud into the runaway well to control the flow. Then they poured in 900 sacks of cement to cap it.

They kept mud flowing down on top of the cement and back up the outside of drill pipes to keep the shaft free for electrical instruments lowered into the well to check the plug.

Fritz Springman, spokesman for Union Oil Co., operator of the well, said more cement would be poured into the hole.

"When we get through we're going to have approximately a 3,400-foot column of cement," he said. "Then she'll be done."

There will be no way to reopen the well, which dumped 21,000 gallons a day into the water six miles offshore until it was stopped.

It produced a slick that covered 800 square miles for a time and plastered harbors and beaches with black goo that killed hundreds of sea birds.

Meanwhile, all oil drilling and pumping has been stopped in the Santa Barbara Channel by federal order, pending a review of procedures to prevent any future leaks.

Federal biologist Kenneth Biglane said acute damage to marine life could be limited to "about 1 per cent." Most of the birds harmed have been loons and western grebes.

Massive Job Ahead

Santa Barbara, Calif. — The blackened hulls of outboard workboats and grimy oil-soaked beaches illustrate the damage to 28 miles of coastline here, caused by a leaking offshore oil rig. Although the oil leak has been plugged, the cleanup job by use of a straw and tub-boats (background) will go on for weeks.

After a boat tour, Paul De Falco Jr. of the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration said the oil slick was breaking into smaller and smaller patches. They were in an elliptical area more than 20 miles long and 11 miles out to sea.

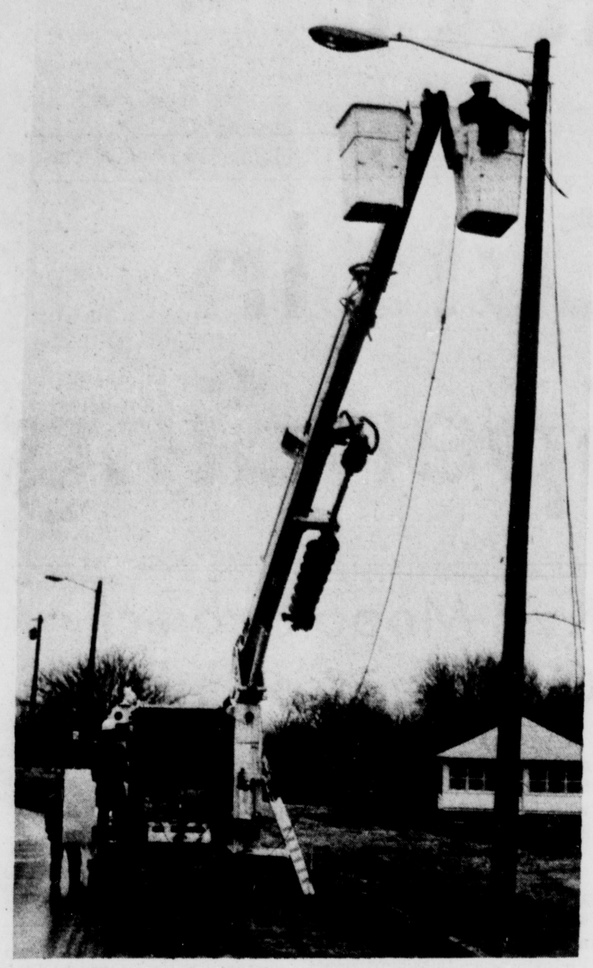

De Falco said 50 men would be assigned to each mile of contaminated beach, beginning with those publicly used.

The crews will grow until they reach 1,000-1,500 men in the next week, he said, and probably will require another three weeks to complete the cleanup.

De Falco said he hadn't determined where the men will come from, but mentioned Union Oil and conservation camps as possibilities.

Log booms kept the worst of the oil out of small boat harbors in nearby Ventura County, but oil was thick on nearly 30 miles of shoreline.

At Santa Barbara, two-man teams paddled between 20 and 30 small, flat-bottomed boats called punts around the harbor scattering straw over oil spots.

Cubans Clamor For Citizenship

MIAMI (AP) — So many Cuban exiles are becoming U.S. citizens that courtrooms here are no longer big enough to hold them. The swearing-in ceremonies are held monthly in public halls.

A waiting list of more than 1,000 is reported.

"If it weren't for the Cubans we wouldn't have many new citizens," commented U.S. Dist. Judge Clyde C. Atkins, in charge of the court committee for naturalization.

More than 80 per cent in each citizenship class are Cubans. Before the Cuban influx, the ceremonies were held only four times a year.

More than 750 new citizens were sworn at a hearing in the Dade County auditorium in December, Atkins reported. More than 350 went in Jan. 22 at a ceremony in Bayfront Park. The largest federal courtroom accommodates 250 persons.

The size of the citizenship classes, Atkins explained, depends on the number processed by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

While official figures on the number of exiles taking citizenship are unavailable, Fernando Penabaz, Florida chairman of the nationalities division of the Republican party, reported about 20,000 have registered as voters in the state in the last four years.

Cuban-born lawyer Carlos Fernandez, who watches the citizenship picture closely, estimated that nearly 20,000 Cubans have become U.S. citizens in the Miami area alone since Fidel Castro's 1959 emergence to power.

Projected nationwide, Fernandez said, a proportionate citizenship movement is occurring. An estimated half-million Cuban exiles live in the United States, more than half of them outside the Miami area.

"Citizenship applications will keep pyramiding, and in May there will be a flood of them," Fernandez predicted. He points out that a law giving Cuban refugees credit for two and one-half years of the usual citizenship residence requirement of five years was passed Nov. 1, 1966. That period elapses May 1, opening the gates.

Fernandez estimated more than 1,000 exile applicants still await processing by immigration authorities. Other observers place the waiting line higher.

Verdict Frees Youth Charged In a Slaying

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — After spending weeks in a jail cell facing the possibility of going to the electric chair, 13-year-old Robert Curtis went home Thursday night with his father and mother.

He was free.

An Orange County circuit court jury of seven women and five men deliberated for an hour and 45 minutes before finding Robert innocent in the rifle killing of a 15-year-old playmate.

When Foreman Edward Parker read the verdict, Robert smiled for the first time during the two-day trial. Parker also was smiling as they shook hands.

Robert was charged with the death of James Thompson, 15, who was killed last Sept. 9 when he was shot in the eye at Robert's family apartment.

The state maintained the shooting was intentional. Robert's defense was that he was putting the rifle away when it discharged accidentally.

In his final summation, Prosecutor Robert Eagan asked the jury to bypass a first degree verdict in favor of second degree or manslaughter.

When the verdict came in, Robert's mother screamed for joy. She and her husband hugged the boy. All three wept.

"Are we going home, Mama?" the boy asked his mother as the three stood bunched in the courtroom.

"Yes, we're going home," she said.

Torrey Canyon Incident Echos in Legal Battles

LONDON (AP) — The super tanker Torrey Canyon crunched onto the Seven Stones Rocks off Southwest England nearly two years ago, sending millions of gallons of crude oil toward the beaches of Britain and France.

The mess was cleaned up long ago but it will be years before the legal wrangling over the bills ends.

The oil leak off Santa Barbara, Calif., which is smothering miles of beautiful beaches with oil, recalls the Torrey Canyon disaster, which on March 18, 1967, spilled oil onto 120 miles of Cornwall's golder sands.

The wreck of the 61,263-ton tanker was the most costly in merchant marine history. The ship and her cargo of 35 million gallons of crude oil were valued at $18 million. Clearing the oil alone cost the British $7.2 million.

A law suit to recover the cleaning bill was brought by the British government against the Barracuda Tanker Corp., the Union Oil subsidiary that owned the ship. The case, comes to trial in Singapore in September. British officials say the action could take years.

France has a lawsuit pending against the company in Rotterdam. More than 40 miles of Brittany beaches were coated with the Torrey Canyon's oil, but they were quickly cleared.

Fishing and tourism are big industries in Cornwall, and when the oil hit the beaches, the county feared bankruptcy. But business hardly suffered.

The use of detergents to break up the slick was more successful than had been expected, but the detergents upset marine life.

The Board of Trade, which is responsible for British shipping, imposed more rigid controls last year on the movement of merchant ships around Britain's coasts, particularly in the English Channel which is used by more than 1,000 tankers each year.

In Cornwall, a daily watch is kept for minor oil slicks which occasionally threaten the beaches. Detergents are stockpiled in case of another major spill.

Meanwhile, the Torrey Canyon lies beneath the Atlantic rollers, gradually being ground to pieces on the underwater rocks.

No Protection In Warranties, Claims FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the Federal Trade Commission says auto warranties protect the manufacturer and not the buyer.

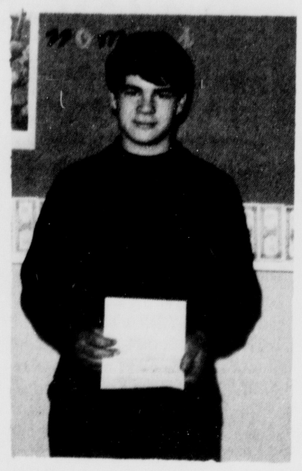

"Contrary to what a lot of people believe," Commissioner Philip Elman said Friday, "The warranty takes away from the car owner. It doesn't give him a thing."

Elman commented during a hearing at which Howard E. Crawford, a vice president of General Motors Corp., protested an FTC report that accused most manufacturers of failing to live up to their warranties.

Elman and three other commissioners lectured Crawford for calling the FTC report factually deficient. They said GM had failed to recognize that there was a problem.

Another witness, William W. Winpisinger, general vice president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, blamed the auto industry for consumer complaints.

He said many of the 117,000 auto and truck mechanics his union represents are demoralized because they have to take the blame for poor repair service.

Al Meives, a freshman at Sacred Heart High School, and son of Mr. and Mrs. A.F. Meives, Route 1, wrote to former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey shortly before the inauguration, asking Humphrey's opinion on lowering the legal age for voters. Humphrey's letter said, in part, "For some 20 years now I have supported and advocated lowering the voting age for national elections from 21 to 18." Meives' letter was prompted by a speech class debate on the subject.

Question of Responsibility In Pueblo Case is Debated

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Buildings quiver and windows rattle as B52s roar off to lay their deadly eggs in South Vietnam. The big birds dramatize an American problem: What to do about Okinawa.

The bombers flew in from the U.S. territory of Guam a year ago, moving them 1,200 miles closer to their war targets. The 75,000 American military men and civilians here saw them as evidence of more powerful U.S. support for allied forces at the front.

But to the million inhabitants of the Ryukyu Islands this was more evidence that they are men and women without a country.

The Ryukyus, once the southernmost prefecture of Japan, have been to all intents and purposes an American colony since their seizure in World War II.

Placed under the administration of a high commissioner chosen from the ranks of U.S. generals, governed by the Department of the Army, Okinawa has been turned into a powerful complex of military bases.

Lobster-shaped, 67 miles long, the Ryukyus consist of the main island groups of Okinawa, Yaeyama and Miyako.

The importance of the American bases lies not only in their unrestricted use but in their situation: 900 miles southwest of Tokyo, 800 northeast of Hong Kong, 1,400 from Da Nang in Vietnam, and—perhaps significantly for the future—a scant 600 miles from Shanghai.

For 23 years the Okinawans—about 50,000 of whom find work on the bases—have quietly stood aside while the United States went about the business of war on their land.

Now the facts of international politics have caught up with Okinawa. The clamor for its return to Japan has reached a climax here and in Tokyo. President Nixon will be asked by Premier Eisaku Sato this fall to set a firm date for its refunification with the motherland.

Since Okinawa is regarded by the Pentagon as a keystone to the U.S. security posture in Asia, what Nixon decides may set up shock waves through the Pacific.

The first to feel its effect will be Sato's government in Japan, closely allied to the United States, but struggling with the anguished question of whether to rearm massively—as it may have to do if Americans pull out of Okinawa—or to continue to let the Americans pull the chestnuts out of the defense fire.

Generally oblivious to the high-level discussins swirling around them, the Americans who serve here are almost sealed off from the outside world. Behind high fences, guards and police dogs, they can, if they wish, live out their tours of duty without once stepping off the neatly groomed, clinically clean base areas.

Everything exists for their work and play: offices, barracks, hospitals, post offices, laundries, bakeries, churches, post exchanges, commissaries, libraries, movies, tennis courts, golf courses, swimming pools, clubs and the ultimate necessity: morgues.

Value Showdown:

Match these features against what competition gives you for the same kind of money, and you'll have a better idea why more people are buying Chevrolets again this year.

Built-in "guard rails"

There's a strong steel beam built into every door of every 1969 Caprice, Impala, Bel Air, Biscayne, Kingswood Estate Wagon, Kingswood, Townsman and Brookwood.

We call it a side guard beam, and it looks like one of those guard rails you see along the freeway.

That's what it's there for: To guard you. To strengthen the door and put a more solid wall between you and the outside world.

Not a glamorous feature.

But you'll have to admit worthwhile.

Computer-selected springs

Maybe you'll order your new Chevy equipped to the hilt.

Or maybe you'll order it with hardly anything on it.

Because we go to the trouble of programming each car's equipment load into an electronic computer.

The computer then tells us exactly which springs to use, depending on the car's weight and the way it's distributed.

Fenders inside fenders

We could have skipped this. (The other cars in our field do.)

But we're as anxious as you are to keep your beautiful new Chevy looking beautiful and new.

So:

Up inside the regular fenders we've placed a second set.

They do all the in-fighting. Catch all the splashed-up rain, slush and road salt. Stop the kicked-up stones.

While your "outers" just sit there looking pretty.

Astro Ventilation

The other two cars in our field give you air intakes down by the floor.

So do we.

We also give you two up on the instrument panel.

And all four of them are adjustable so you can regulate the flow of air just the way you like it.

Even with all the windows closed, you'll be comfortable inside. You get air without wind. Without noise.

The theft-thwarter

On the steering column there's a lock.

Only Chevrolet has it, in Chevrolet's field.

You turn the key and it locks three things:

Your ignition.

Your steering wheel.

Your shift lever.

Biggest standard V8 in our field

Ask any car enthusiast, he'll tell you:

Chevrolet builds great engines. Especially V8s.

And this year there are six great V8s available for the big Chevrolet. Standard: Our 235-hp 327-cubic-inch Turbo-Fire.

Another thing: We've lowered the price of several of our bigger V8s along with our automatic transmissions and power disc brakes. Which makes it possible for you to buy a '69 Chevrolet for even less money than you could last year.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

WHAT CAUSES A STY IN THE EYE?

A sty is a bacterial infection of one of the small glands on the edge of the eyelid. Though some people believe it is the result of eye strain, or a run down body condition, most likely it is caused by rubbing the eyes with fingers bearing bacterial germs.

A sty can last from a few days to three or four weeks. It can cause much discomfort and sometimes pain. If one persists more than a few days, it is wise to have your physician open it and permit this small abscess to drain and heal quickly.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine and we will gladly deliver it without charge. If you prefer you may pick it up at our drive up window. We keep accurate records for tax and insurance purposes. We carefully fill welfare prescriptions and deliver or mail free of charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. Question If it is true that the average funeral service costs somewhere around $700.00 what do those people do who cannot afford this cost?

Answer Since averages are easily distorted, we mistrust their application to medical care, legal services, and all of the other things including a funeral service which people must purchase when they really don't want to. The most direct way to answer your question is to emphasize the fact that we have funeral services in all price brackets, and that we have never turned any family away for lack of funds.

We recognize our responsibility to serve all people within the framework of the amount they choose to spend for a funeral. In spite of the national averages we have complete funeral services in all price ranges. The amount anyone spends on a funeral service is his own personal decision. Primarily we would like for you to know the services comprising a funeral remain constant regardless of the cost.

'Hands Off' Policy On Public Affection

Dear Ann Landers: Please say something about kids who walk down the street with their arms wrapped around one another's waists, paw each other in public and kiss in the school corridors. Yesterday two couples were necking up a storm on the back steps and a teacher almost broke her neck when she tripped over them.

My closest girl friend told me her steady threatened to drop her unless she allowed him to caress her publicly. He said it was his way of advertising their relationship so the others guys would lay off.

Do you have an opinion? — HANDS OFF

Dear Off: Yes, and I've expressed it many times. Public displays of affection cheapen a girl and they don't do much for a fellow either. The smart girl insists that her boyfriend keep his hands off when others are present — if he doesn't know better.

Dear Ann Landers: Jim and I are being married in four weeks.

Last night I asked Jim to promise that there would be no reading of newspapers at breakfast table. He insisted that he had ALWAYS read the newspaper at breakfast, that it was a ritual with him and I was asking too much.

Jim also made the point that he is not in a very good humor in the morning and we would both be better off if he stayed behind the newspaper.

In my view he is being selfish and obstinate. Please comment: — T.T.

Dear T.T.: Jim has told you two important facts about himself. (1) He has become accustomed to reading the paper in the morning. (2) He is not much of a morning communicator and would appreciate it if you'd leave him alone with his paper. So lay off, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: In the past five years my 35-year-old brother has worked only one third of the time. He has never paid room or board. Mother says we should forgive him — "like good Christians."

I am 31, unmarried, pay the rent and grocery bills. My brother eats and sleeps, criticizes, complains and keeps me in a constant state of turmoil. I have never been able to buy decent clothes or take a trip although I make an excellent salary. I have passed up some good opportunities to date because my mother says my first obligation is to her. This means, "Come home after work and keep me company."

I don't mind supporting my mother but I resent supporting my brother. My friends say I am crazy. Any advice? — TIRED

Dear tired: Your friends are right. I'd substitute "guilt-ridden" for "crazy" but it adds up to the same thing. Your mother has done a splendid job of crippling you so you'd never leave her. Now you need professional help to break the chains that bind you. I hope you get it soon and clear out of that squirrel cage.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Whiteman Efforts Recognized

Whiteman AFB — The 351st Strategic Missile Wing, Whiteman Air Force Base, Mo., was one of three eighth Air Force units presented the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award at the recent Commander's Workshop at Ramey AFB, Puerto Rico.

Lt. Gen. William B. Kieffer, Eighth Air Force commander, presented the awards at a formal dinner during which 18 other awards were made.

Col. George R. Brendle, 351st SMW commander, accepted the award from General Kieffer, the second Air Force Outstanding Unit Award earned by the missile wing.

The two other units receiving the award were the 19th Bomb Wing, Robins AFB, Ga., and the 72nd Security Police Squadron of the conference's host base.

The three units were cited for exceptionally meritorious service from July 1, 1967 to June 30, 1968. Superior leadership, exceptional initiative, outstanding professionalism and resourcefulness demonstrated by the personnel assigned to the 351st Strategic Missile Wing contributed to the establishment of new records of performance and the wing's attainment of an outstanding mission effectiveness.

In addition, Whiteman AFB was the recipient of the Outstanding Civil Engineering Trophy and the Weather Support Award.

Pot Party Is Raided By NY Police

NEW YORK (AP) — Police raiders broke up what they described as a mass "pot party" at a private home in Queens today and seized 108 teen-agers—more than half of them under age 16.

Acting on a tip, detectives went to the two-story frame home and found the party under way in the packed basement boiler room. "When we got there these people couldn't move," said one.

Police said they also confiscated two loaded pistols, three switchblade knives and a quantity of heroin and marijuana.

Police said the owners of the house, identified as Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Powell, were aware that the party was going on but believed it was a purely social gathering for their daughter.

"When we got there it was fantastic," said one detective. "All the boys and girls were jammed in the boiler room. It was thick with smoke. The lights were out and a record player blared."

Police said they learned of the party from a youth who was stabbed. The victim, identified as Rufus Johnson, 19, was in fair condition in Queens General Hospital with two stab wounds in the lung.

Detectives said Johnson told them he had gone to the house with his brother, James, 17, and paid a 50-cent fee to enter. Inside, he said, they were ordered to leave because the basement was overcrowded.

A fight ensued in which Johnson was wounded, he said. Both brothers then escaped and reported the party to police, detectives said.

Scuffle Results In Critical Injuries

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A 26-year-old steel worker has critical burns after a scuffle which apparently started with a wolf whistle.

Witnesses said David Allen Bozich was splashed with gasoline Friday and it was ignited by a cigarette he was smoking.

Police said one of three men riding with Bozich whistled at a young woman standing near a stalled car. When the young man with her shouted a reply, Bozich turned around and a scuffle followed.

The driver of the stalled car had obtained some gasoline in two milk cartons and some of it splashed on Bozich.

Enter Plea Of Innocent For Missourian

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—A plea of innocent to a charge of first-degree murder was entered by a judge Friday for Anthony Erthell Williams, 24, a self-styled minister and Missouri mental hospital escapee, when Williams appeared for arraignment without a lawyer.

Williams was indicted by a Polk County grand jury in connection with the slaying of 10-year-old Pamela Powers of Urbandale, a Des Moines suburb.

Her frozen body was found the day after Christmas eve. Williams, who had lived at the YMCA, surrendered to police in Davenport, Iowa and led officers to the body.

A plea of innocent to a charge of first degree murder was also entered by Judge James Denato for Michael Charles Niccum, 23, a former Des Moines shopping center security guard, who had been indicted by the grand jury in connection with the beating death of Linda Boothe, 17, of Des Moines on Nov. 20.

Niccum was arrested in St. Louis, Mo.

Travel Mode By First Lady Is Defended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pat Nixon's press secretary says the First Lady should travel by military plane because of the hijacking danger and because it's free.

"The First Lady is the government's greatest unpaid force," Mrs. Gerry Van der Heuvel said Friday.

"Why she should have to put out of pocket money to travel across the country is a little bit ridiculous to begin with."

"In the second place," she added, "In this day and age, when planes are being hijacked, it's just not safe for a First Lady to travel in a commercial plane."

Mrs. Van der Heuvel appeared before the Women's National Press Club along with Mrs. Lyndon Johnson's press secretary, Liz Carpenter.

Mrs. Carpenter, whose boss usually traveled tourist class on commercial planes, agreed with Mrs. Van der Heuvel.

"There isn't going to be any First Lady who's going to misuse a military plane on any private business of her own," said Mrs. Carpenter. "And I think it's absolutely ridiculous to nickel-and-dime them to death."

The subject came up after Mrs. Nixon used an Air Force Jetstar to travel to her former home in New York this week.

Rebellious Wind Is Given the Blame

Key Post For Negro In HEW

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Farmer, former national director of the Congress of Racial Equality and a supporter of Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey for president, is slated for a key post in the Nixon administration.

Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch disclosed Friday that he plans to name Farmer, 49, to a post with far-reaching responsibilities in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He did not specify the position.

Farmer is the first Negro named to a major post in the Nixon administration. Finch himself has said other prominent Negroes have turned down offers because they feared criticism.

Farmer resigned three years ago as head of CORE, a civil rights group that was in the vanguard of the struggle for Negro equality in the South during the early 1960s. In 1961 he led the Freedom Rides, which sometimes received violent receptions from Southern whites.

Last year he ran for Congress on the Republican-Liberal ticket in the heavily Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant area of Brooklyn, NY. He lost to Mrs. Shirley Chisholm, a Democrat and the first black woman ever elected to Congress.

Most of the assistant secretaries' posts in Finch's department have already been filled—at least the ones that would seem logical for a person with Farmer's background. However, there has been discussion of adding more undersecretaries, which would require congressional approval.

Some of Farmer's past statements bear a resemblance to Nixon's suggestions that industry could do much to help Negroes.

Easter Seal Child

Six-year-old Karla Jo Bennett, Piedmont, Mo., has been chosen the 1969 Easter Seal Child by the Missouri Society for Crippled Children and Adults. During the Society's annual campaign, which opens March 1 and continues through Easter Sunday, April 6, Karla will make personal appearances to focus attention on Easter Seal rehabilitation services.

Republican Strength As Goal

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two of Missouri's top Republican leaders said Thursday night their primary goal is to build a strong party and squabbling in the news media is not the way to do it.

Gene Taylor of Sarcoxie, Republican state committeeman, and Elmer Smith, State Committee chairman, made the statement after returning from Washington and conferences with national party leaders.

Earlier, former Finance Committee Chairman Lawrence J. Meisel and the present state party treasurer, Del E. Caywood, made peace.

Smith has been embroiled in controversies with Fred O. Whaley, chairman of the St. Louis Republican Committee, and with Meisel.

The Smith - Whaley dispute resulted from differing opinions on what should be done with proceeds from a Republican fund-raising "unity dinner" held in St. Louis recently. Whaley said the state group had agreed to give local organizations 18 per cent of the revenue from such affairs.

Smith and Meisel quarreled over the condition of financial records and obligations of the State Finance Office, which Meisel surrendered when Smith was named state chairman.

Caywood and Meisel resolved the differences Thursday and Caywood took over the Finance Office. Caywood said all financial matters had been explained to his satisfaction.

Smith and Taylor said they plan to recommend the best-qualified personnel available for federal positions in Missouri.

"Our objective is to sit down outside the glare of publicity and see if reasonable men cannot find reasonable solutions to admittedly difficult problems," Taylor and Smith said in a joint statement.

"This we intend to do," they said. "If other factions will take the same attitude, our party will be stronger and we will be able to agree on men who have the best qualifications for high office in Missouri."

IN THE NEWS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Praising mothers for having a lot of children is no longer "functionally appropriate" in a world with a population explosion, U.S. delegate John E. Means told the U.N. Conference on the Status of Women.

Sailor Given An Assignment In Sub Probe

Electrician's Mate Second Class Noel V. Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Wolf, Fortuna, has extended his enlistment in the Navy to be part of an unusual assignment.

Noel Wolf

Wolf sailed from California on Feb. 3 aboard the USS White Sands, the mother ship of the bathyscaphe Trieste II. The latter will be used by the Navy to investigate the wreck of the nuclear submarine USS Scorpion, which was lost at sea last May.

The Scorpion has been located in 10,000 feet of water about 460 miles southwest of the Azores. An exhaustive investigation by the Navy has discovered no cause for the tragedy, and it will be the Trieste II's task to take close-up photographs of the hull of the submarine.

The world's first "newspaper" was published by Julius Caesar. The Roman ruler had his record of public business posted daily in the Forum.

Youngsters Go With Every Fire Truck

NEW YORK (AP) — When fire trucks leave Engine Co. 28 on New York's Lower East Side, a patrol car goes along—carrying five youngsters from the area.

It's part of a program to train neighborhood youths to stop harassment of fire fighters in slum areas.

The six-month test is being run by Mobilization for Yourh, an antipoverty agency. The five youths in the program get $65 a week, $45 from the Neighborhood Youth Corps and $20 from a grant from the Fund for the City of New York.

House, Senate Take New Look at Inspection Law

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Thousands of irate Missourians have caused the House and Senate to take another look at the controversial motor vehicle inspection law they passed during the last session.

The Senate Committee on Roads and Highways has approved a bill to repeal the law.

Sunday a special House committee will begin drafting its recommendation for changes in the law. It has until Tuesday to submit them to the House.

The law has been criticized from all sides. Legislators have called it a chance for service station and garage owners to fatten their purses and a case of "the fox guarding the chicken coop."

Two lengthy public hearings were held in the House. The first resulted in the special committee assigned to look into the measure recommending keeping the law but with some changes.

Then another hearing was held where recommendations all the way from excluding liquid fertilizer trailers to putting the headlight tolerances requirements back in were heard.

The state patrol earlier rescinded an order requiring headlights to be aligned when it seemed the majority of the causes for rejection — 87 per cent — were due to car lights needing adjustment.

The patrol has been criticized for being too strict in its enforcement on one hand, and for not supervising the inspecting stations closely enough on the other.

Rep. Richard J. DeCoster D-Canton, chairman of the Special House Committee, said some newspapers have accused him of "basting" the patrol for their enforcement of the law.

DeCoster said he was critical of the patrol but he was much more critical of the Legislature for allowing such a law to be passed.

Several service station owners appeared before DeCoster's committee to defend the law.

John S. Costello of the Mid-America Gasoline Retailers Association said if as many gouging incidents are occurring as reported, the patrol then needs to educate the public to report these complaints to permit enforcement.

Rep. Walter L. Meyer, D-St. Louis, a member of the House committee, asked Costello and the service station owners if they would object to a conflict of interest provision being written into the law.

Costello said if that provision were made part of the law the state would find itself without any inspecting stations.

Costello disagreed with Meyer that there was any "money grabbing" or "make work" incidents to justify that provision.

But Meyer countered that he thought it was "a matter of the fox guarding the chicken coop," and an inspecting station, in his opinion, would hesitate to approve a vehicle after rejecting it and the work wasn't done by that station.

Sen. John E. Downs, D-St. Joseph, author of the Senate bill to repeal the law, called it a fraud on the public.

Col. E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, patrol superintendent, is optimistic about the law.

He concedes it is creating a problem, but, he says, that will work itself out in time.

Hockaday pointed out a money-making feature of the law when he appeared before a House committee on another matter this week.

He said the state would realize about $1.5 million from the 50 per cent fee returned from inspecting stations. He said the law would cost the state only one-third of that so Missouri would make $1 million the first year.

Since the outcry against the 1967 law arose after the first inspections in December, Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has extended until Feb. 28 the time for January licensees to get their cars inspected and renew their licenses.

Another suggestion put before the House Committee was to stagger the licensing of trucks through January, February and March by weight groups.

This would break up the bottleneck in the Revenue Department also, witnesses said.

Rep. DeCoster doesn't want the law repealed. One thing legislators look at is the possibility of losing 10 per cent of federal funds for highway construction if Missouri has no vehicle inspection law.

Another is that the law is intended to get the dangerous vehicle off the highways.

Meyer suggested also, instead of making the inspection a prerequisite for obtaining a license, the inspection should be an annual requirement. Under his suggestion the vehicle owner would be subject to arrest for failing to renew the inspection each year.

Lt. E. W. Van Winkle, who is supervising the program for the patrol, said he thought the law was good because it reaches those car owners who are too lax to make obviously needed repairs.

It also, he said, uncovers defects which are dangerous and could go undetected until a serious accident occurred.

Van Winkle has been allowed 40 men to police and supervise the program. He has nearly all of his complement now.

Officers assigned to enforcing the program make periodic inspections of the inspecting stations. They investigate complaints by car owners, and test and certify mechanics to perform the inspections.

Lt. Van Winkle summed up his feelings about the program recently when he noted the superintendent had picked the right man to supervise the Motor Vehicle Inspection Department.

'Up With People' Coming To the Campus of CMSC

WARRENSBURG — "Up With People," the world famous group with its cast of 200 young people, will present a "Sing-Out Explosion" on the campus of Central Missouri State College Wednesday through Friday.

Scheduled performances will be at 8 p.m. each evening in Hendricks Hall, but unscheduled groups will perform all over the campus during the three days that the huge cast will be here.

"Up With People" has crisscrossed the country nine times, playing at about 100 military bases, almost 1,000 colleges and universities, and to thousands in theaters, stadiums and arenas. It has been seen in person by two million people around the world and by an estimated 125 million persons on television.

At the invitation of government and national leaders, the troupe has toured 17 countires in five continents.

The group is touring Missouri at the invitation of Gov. Warren C. Hearnes and is being sponsored by the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with local Chambers of Commerce throughout the state. Locally, the Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce is coordinating many of the arrangements for the group's visit here, including both meals and lodging.

Local citizens are being asked to provide housing for the youth — some of them high school students, many college age students, and about one-fourth foreign students.

Anyone interested in providing housing and breakfast for two or more members of the cast should call the Chamber office, 747-3168 or 747-3169.

"Up With People" started about three years ago with 130 young men and women who were concerned about the future and decided to sing out their convictions. They saw the greatest problem in this country as the lack of motivation in their own generation. There are now three separate "Up With People" casts touring Missouri.

Tickets to the performances are $1.50 for high school and college students and $2.50 for adults. Tickets may be purchased at the College Union or at the Chamber of Commerce office. They will also be available at the door.

Lack of Sponsor In Sedalia

"Up With People" was unable to give a planned performance in Sedalia for lack of sponsorship by a local civic organization.

According to Dr. T.J. Norris, superintendent of schools, an individual representing the troupe approached the Board of Education in order to rent space in the Smith-Cotton gymnasium.

Norris said the board's regulations prohibit renting space to any individual. Only local non-profit organizations such as civic clubs and church groups can rent space from the school board, he said.

Student 'Police' Stop Destruction

SALMON, Idaho (AP) — Vandalism, once an expensive headache for the schools of this small central Idaho town, is a rarity these days. Officials give the credit to students and a $500 promise.

Last school year, more than $2,000 worth of windows were broken in the Salmon school system. This year, Principal Tom Tingle says the total is about $30—and most of that has been accidental.

"I don't know just what has happened," Tingle said, "but the plan has worked."

The "plan" was offered by a group of students. They told Tingle if the school board would set aside $500 to cover window breakage and let the student body have whatever was left to buy a gift for the school system, they thought a self-policing plan would work.

"This is proof that the students can police themselves when they have the incentive," said Superintendent Robert Banks.

The plan was discussed at length by school officials, parent-teacher officers and many of Salmon's 3,000 residents before it was presented to the school board.

Now it looks as if the school system will save a lot of money and the school may wind up with a present.

Banks is delighted at the turn of events.

"With school financing such a problem," he said, "We just hated to see all that money going down the drain."

Scott Zeigler, president of the Salmon High student body, said the program has helped bring the faculty and students closer.

"This is something the kids got interested in," he said. "Last year, there was a bunch in school who just seemed to want to wreck things. We seem to have have that solved this year."

As for the gift, Zeigler says the students haven't decided what to do with the money yet.

NEW YORK (AP) — It happened again twice last week and it has happened at least a dozen times before in the last year and the pastor of St. Mark's Church-in-the-Bouwerie says the church may have to close because of it.

"Last week the City Landmarks Commission established the St. Mark's historical district," said the Rev. J. Michael Allen Thursday in a letter to Mayor John V. Lindsay. "Next week, we may have to close the church."

The Rev. Mr. Allen said, "We cannot continue to operate much longer under the pressure of successive break-ins and robberies."

The Episcopal church was burglarized Wednesday and again Thursday. The first time the thieves broke through an office wall, the second time they forced open a door.

After both robberies, the rector was critical of police. He said each time a robbery occurs, a different detective appears at the church. "He is totally indifferent to the present crime, and in a community as crime ridden as this, I confess I can understand his feelings," the Rev. Mr. Allen said.

The three - centuries - old church on the city's lower East Side at Second Avenue and 10th Street has been robbed more than a dozen times in the last year with losses totalling over $6,000, Father Allen said.

He said he expected the church would lose its insurance coverage, and added, "When that happens, I shall recommend to the vestry that the church suspend operation and close."

Discussing the robberies, the rector said: "It happens so often that we've lost an exact count. In some cases, they've really cleaned us out, taking electric typewriters, movie projectors, theater equipment and even the cross on the altar. This time they got only about $20."

Girl Scout Leaders Reminded of Course

Girl Scout leaders are reminded of the American Red Cross classes that will begin next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Farm and Home Building, according to Mrs. Orin Smith, director. Instructor for the class will be Dale Phillaber.

Those taking the course are asked to bring a triangular bandage, 2 and 3-inch bandages and the First Aid book, available at the local American Red Cross office.

Center Dedicated

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The University of Missouri dedicated its new $1,400,000 livestock center Friday, and most of the 1,000 participants were alumni of the college of agriculture.

The center includes a livestock arena with 1,100 seats, an auditorium seating 600, a cattle holding area with 300 tie rings, 50 pens for swine and sheep, laboratories and classrooms.

Author Cited For Contempt

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle cited author William Bradford Huie for contempt of court Friday, then rebuked Huie during a hearing on motions in the James Earl Ray case.

Battle will hear the March trial of Ray, charged with murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The judge has issued stringent orders prohibiting pretrial publicity.

Huie, Ray's biographer and the recipient of a 20,000-word manuscript written by Ray in jail, was arrested as he emerged from an appearance before the Shelby County grand jury in which he is reported to have discussed the Ray papers.

Battle turned down motions by Ray's defense that photographs for a national magazine be allowed of the prisoner with the royalties going toward the defense. The judge said any pictures will be taken by the sheriff's department and will be distributed to all news media.

Battle said he had asked Huie not to publish a series of stories in Look magazine prior to the trial. He pointed out that two stories ran last fall when Ray was first scheduled for trial and a third is about to run. He said he believes all violate the order limiting pretrial discussion of the case.

Lawmaker Ponders Probe Of a SBA-Rebozo Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee says he may investigate the government's guarantee that Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo will lose no rent money in a Miami, Fla., shopping center.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., said Friday he was particularly interested in the Small Business Administration's 20-year rent-guarantee agreement, but also was disturbed "by news stories which indicated that an SBA employe who participated in approving the guarantee had a close business and personal relationship with Rebozo."

The Associated Press disclosed Thursday that Rebozo was asked to develop the small center for Cuban businessmen by Thomas Butler, the SBA's regional director in Miami and a friend and investment associate of Rebozo.

Rebozo is best known as a close friend of President Nixon, but the rent-guarantee plan was worked out two years before Nixon's election.

The SBA developed the center as a pilot project in which Cuban businessmen who qualify for Economic Opportunity loans will be set up in business in one shopping center. The agency assured Rebozo and his partner, C. V. W. Trice Jr., a Miami real estate developer that it would guarantee any lease payments they might lose over 20 years.

With that guarantee, the developers were able to obtain a mortgage to build the $900,000, 26-unit center. It is expected to open by the end of this month.

The SBA and Trice contend that any major profits for Rebozo would come from increases in the value of the land rather than the rent guarantee.

Patman is expected to make informal soundings before calling an official investigation.

"If such an investigation is conducted," he said, "it should be broad enough to determine whether similar arrangements have been entered into with other developers in any other sections of the country."

Under a three-year-old program, the SBA has guaranteed portions of rents for individual businessmen, but the Rebozo project is the only one with a 100-per cent guarantee for the entire shopping center.

Marrigage to a Priest Sustained By 'Faith'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joanne Sakowski Burns, whose husband resigned as pastor of a Roman Catholic parish in Delaware to be married, credits her faith for strength in making the change.

"I honestly feel that if it were not for God and my faith, I never could have pulled through this," said the 33-year-old former Delaware beauty queen at her Bromall apartment in Philadelphia's suburbs Friday. This is her first marriage.

Francis X. Burns, 44, said he and Mrs. Burns were wed in a Catholic service Sunday, but refused to name the priest who married them or the church where it took place.

They were married Tuesday in a civil ceremony.

"I will be a Catholic and a priest until I die," Burns said, his wife at his side. "I haven't left the church."

"I never have given so much thought and sincere prayer to any decision," he said.

Ordained in 1948, the Wilmington, Del., native served as a school administrator and pastor of Holy Cross church.

The blonde Mrs. Burns, a Catholic, is a secretary employed by the Du Pont Co.

The priest described the loneliness of his celibate life and the reasons for relinquishing his pastorate in a letter to church officials and relatives.

"I felt like the captain of a sinking ship," he wrote, stating that loneliness is destroying and that the number of vocations is waning.

Candlelight Vows Read For Kroeger-Harrison

In an afternoon ceremony Jan. 25, at Goodwill United Methodist Church, Miss Patricia Kroeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Kroeger, Rt. 2, Sedalia, became the bride of Mr. Michael Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Harrison, 619 West Seventh.

The Rev. Harry Foockle performed the double ring ceremony before altar decorations of white gladiolas and mums flanked by seven branch candelabra. White satin bows marked the family pews and a white carpet centered the aisle.

Mrs. Dorothy Bass, Smithton, organist, accompanied Mrs. Carol Barnes as she sang "The Twelfth of Never" and "Wedding Prayer."

Candles were lighted by Miss Melinda Williams and Miss Melissa Kroeger, nieces of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white floor length gown of chantilly lace over peau de soie. Lace fashioned the long tapering sleeves and formed the Watteau chapel length train. Her only jewelry was a small cameo pendant. The elbow length veil of illusion fell from a flower cluster accented with seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and camellia foliage.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Cheryl Cox and bridesmaid, Mrs. Linda Meek, were attired in identical floor length, long-sleeved gowns of red velvet with fur accents at the empire waist. Red velvet bows formed their headpieces and each carried a white muff.

Abatement of Anger

Like we indicated before; better luck next time.

The reference is to a bond issue to underwrite the cost of a Junior High school for Sedalia. The one for $1,650,000 was defeated 2,150 to 1,861, a favorable majority, yes, but not the required two-thirds.

Total vote was 4,011, much, much less than it should have been. Since Tuesday we have heard comments from senior citizens that they would have gone to the polls and voted for the bonds if they had had transportation or inspired inclination. Numerous persons were apathetic about the project. Odd part of the results was the non-registered taxpayers could have voted, but this opportunity didn't catch fire.

Compare 4,011 votes with the 4,787 cast in 1957 for the $2,700,000 bond issue to purchase the water company; or the 4,930 votes cast in 1959 for the Urban Highway plan.

Some taxpayers who originally were for the Junior High school became involved in a flip-flop before election day and voted negatively, or not wanting to get involved in controversy among friends just stayed away from the polls.

This sort of thing is not new to Sedalia elections. We had two doses of it on the Urban Highway plan before it was passed; and similar repeats were required for the water company purchase.

Perhaps that is what we'll have to do again. Protracted campaigns to sell the people and then finally buy something we could have originally purchased for much less money. We always have to drift through a cooling off period designed to allow intemperate feelings to abate.

Too often victors and losers in an election mutually get their blood pressure up. Some things are said that would have been better left unsaid by both sides.

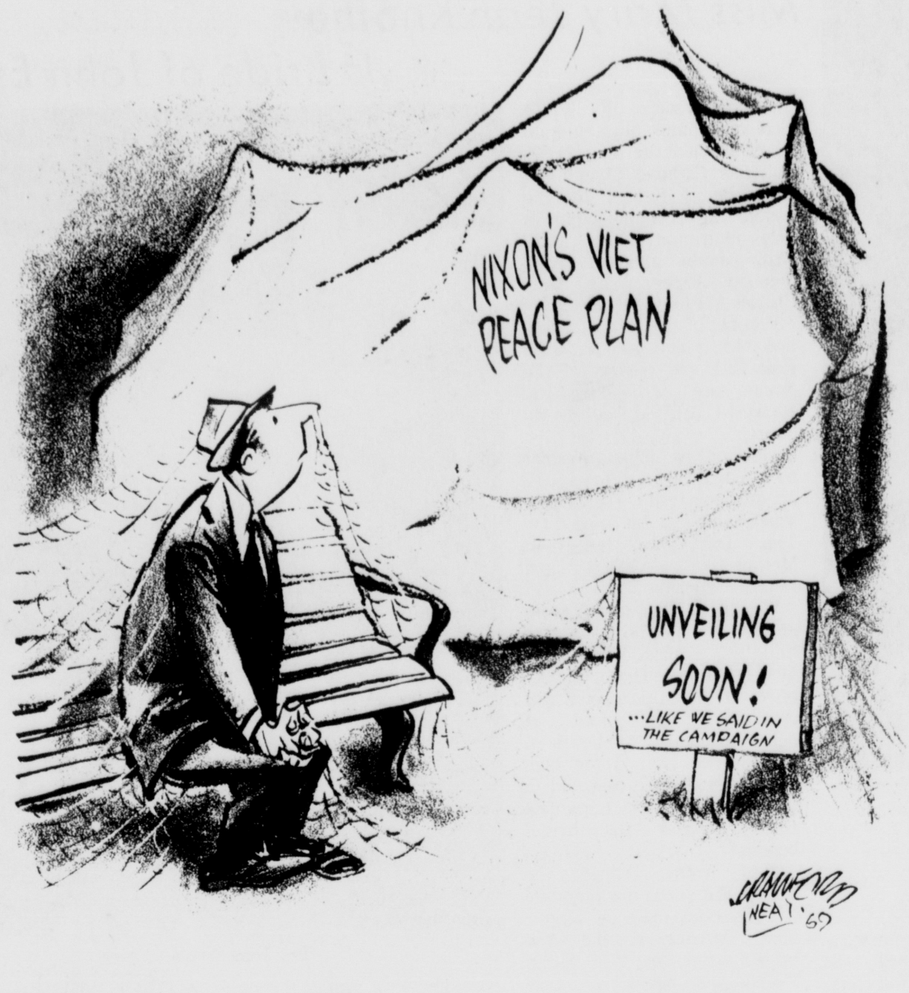

The Junior High election is over. Let's forget about that one now and cool off. Get down to the business of profiting by errors of commission or omission and build a new program for selling the Junior High project. Feeding the fires of anger isn't going to accomplish a thing.

Aristotle had a few words on this subject over 2,000 years ago which may apply currently. Here it is for what it may be worth to "cool it" locally:

"Anybody can become angry — that is easy; but to be angry with the right person, and to the right degree, and at the right time, and for the right purpose, and in the right way — that is not within everybody's power and is not easy."

If we honestly tried the hard way to apply our impulses to anger we might see the merit of restraining such intemperance the easy way.

Where Now?

Some must wander the whole world o'er
In their own land from shore to shore.
In foreign places where they find
People of a far different kind;
Mountains and desert do they seek,
Those who another language speak,
Different customs, different ways,
Trinkets sold on the streets from trays;
Markets gay with its merchandise
Where one must barter for what he buys;
Some are the vagabonds who wander
Into the vast and unknown yonder
Wanting to see the mystery
Wandering feet that are never still
Seeking knowledge, seeking thrill,
Things they must see, things they must know,
Searching — over the earth they go,
These are the travelers, but there are, too,
People who this will never do
People who never want to roam
But are content to stay at home,
People who watch the stars o'er head,
Who slumber well in their humble bed,
There in the home that they love best
Here to eat and think and rest,
Wondering not about the earth
Satisfied with their lowly hearth
Looking not for greater powers,
Asking only their garden of flowers,
Undistrubed by any desires
Except what the love of nature inspires,
Simple beauty wherever they look
They are content in their little nook
Two kinds of people did God create
Some with desire to migrate,
These are the ones through history's years
Have come to be called the pioneers,
Restless, seeking something new,
Always the unknown they pursue
Until at last their feet are slowed
And they settle down in their abode
Beside the man who did not care
To be any place else but there.

May Scuttle Benefits to Poor

— Pipeline Finagling —

On May 31, 1967, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported than an important antitruse case against Colonial Pipeline was slumbering in the Justice Department's antitrust division, but that officials on top in the Justice Department had not given the green light.

Pearson and Anderson also reported that a federal grand jury was investigating top executives of Colonial Pipeline on charges of bribing local New Jersey officials.

Jan. 27, 1969, top officials of Colonial Pipeline, including vice president Karl T. Feldman and former president Ben D. Leuty, were convicted of paying bribes to New Jersey officials for getting a construction easement.

Also convicted were the Bechtel Corporation and the Towland Topkins Corporation.

DREW PEARSON and JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Sen. John McClellan, a stockholder in two Arkansas banks and a champion of government benefits to banks, is out to gut government benefits to the poor. The perpetually angry McClellan has little sympathy, apparently, for people with no money to deposit in banks.

He is grimly determined, say intimates, to break up the Office of Economic Opportunity, which runs the antipoverty program. With this in mind, he is preparing to zero in on the Appalachian volunteers whose work among the poor has stirred up a controversy in the Kentucky hills.

It seems that three of the early volunteers were raided by police, who found Marxist literature on the premises. All three were indicted for alleged "sedition," but were freed after the state sedition law was declared unconstitutional.

To make matters worse, some volunteers wore long hair and beards in their labors among the Kentucky poor. Evidently, this is no longer the style among the hill folk.

All this has caused the Kentucky Un-American Activities Committee deep anguish over a "communist conspiracy" to seize Pike County, Kentucky. Commonwealth Attorney Thomas Ratliff, for instance, cried out in alarm that the alleged seditionists intended to "call on Russian tanks to help conquer Pike County."

Ratliff patriotically promised "to appeal to Mayor Daley (of Chicago) and George Wallace of Alabama) for help in defending Pike County."

— Chasing Communists —

For the past 18 months, the KUAC has pursued alleged and imagined communists through the Kentucky hills. Now Sen. McClellan, his righteous dander up, has joined the chase.

It is quite true that the three who were indicted for sedition worked briefly for the Appalachian volunteers, who, in turn, are financed by the OEO.

The OEO long ago investigated the trio, found them to be too radical for the government good and threw them out. Thereafter, a nine-member evaluation team surveyed the work of the Appalachian volunteers and concluded:

"Charges against them on political grounds or of their dress and personal conduct were generally in the past tense and did not relate to the AV personnel or activities the team was able to observe. In short, it was the team's view that, within their limited resources, the AVS are making an effective contribution to efforts to eliminate poverty within the region of their operations."

The irony is that the ousted radicals have remained in the Kentucky hills, financed by some mysterious source, and are now carrying on a rival effort to win the allegiance of the impoverished mountaineers.

Thus McClellan, by training his sights on the Appalachian volunteers, not only will be hurting the poor but will be helping the people he professes to believe are seditionists.

— Bank Boondoggle —

The banking giants are preparing an all-out fight against amendments to the bank holding company act which would plug loopholes in the law and bar them from non-banking business enterprises in competition with their customers.

Battling for the amendments, side by side for a change, will be two old foes, chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking Committee and chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board.

It will be interesting to see what position President Nixon will take in this struggle, since former President Eisenhower strongly urged that Congress give "further attention" to loopholes in the holding company act when he signed it on May 9, 1956.

The law, for instance, prohibits any company which owns 25 per cent or more of two commercial banks from operating businesses nonrelated to banking.

However, any company which controls only one bank (the law defines 25 per cent or more as control), no matter how big that bank is, is not subject to the restrictions. Thus, some of the largest banks in the U.S. are now converting to one-bank holding companies in order to circumvent the law.

The First National City Bank of New York already has squeezed through the loophole. The Bank of America and other leading banks also are planning to follow suit — if the loophole is left unplugged.

Since the days of the depression federal banking laws have sought to separate the business of banking from non-banking enterprises, so that adequate sources of credit are available to all business without discrimination. Otherwise, banks would be free to compete in business against their own customers, and, by withholding credit, either drive them to the wall or dominate their operations.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Sedalia Independent Retail Grocers' Association meeting in Keuck's Tavern elected the following officers: President, Virgil Corson now serving in the armed forces; Vice-President, Landon Welch; Treasurer, Harry Kanter; Directors, Lee Corson, Charles Solon and Ira Maxwell who will serve with M.D. Weathers, Leonard Anderson and Richard Gray. Gilbert V. Jones was reappointed secretary.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Fire destroyed the general store of Kelb and Son and the Ionia Bank, 20 miles southwest of Sedalia. The Sedalia fire department made a run to Ionia in 45 minutes with the new apparatus recently bought by the city, with John Leuck as engineer and driver, and Firemen William Middleton, Fred Brummett and Ora Martin. This was the first time the pumper was used drawing water from Ionia cisterns.

NINETY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Rev. John Russell (not the Russell of the Sedalia Democrat) will attempt to organize a temperance society in Jefferson City. Vain labor, futile efforts....So far as extending the boundaries of Sedalia is concerned we have more room now than will be occupied in the next 50 years, and to say that we should enlarge is a transparent folly and the most baldfaced nonsense. We beg to express the hope that our legislature will let our boundaries severely alone, unless it "takes in" the whole of Pettis county and have done with it. Some men have strange notions about the needs of our city.

THE MIAMI HERALD: To Study Cuba? — Stirrings toward resuming normal relations with Red Cuba at the academic level leave us cold.

The Ford Foundation has announced a grant of $125,000 for research inside Cuba by United States scholars who can get permission from Washington and Havana to work there. This is an expansion of grants made this year to two United States professors who got clearance to study teacher training and labor policy under the Fidel Castro regime.

The Ford Foundation's stated reason for its $125,000 gesture was "evidence of increased willingness" in Havana to "establish professional relations with members of the North American academic community."

No doubt. "Willingness" probably is an understatement. But why should our side — including the largest tax-exempt foundation — oblige Castro on this score?

The elephant seal is not only the largest of the seals but also the clumsiest and ugliest.

The Jets' Joe Namath--- Man for Off-Season, Too

Students of American society are still trying to figure out why Joe Namath made such a massive impact at the Super Bowl. The most obvious comment is that he talked big for 10 days prior to the event and then won VERY big, separating the men from the boys at the Miami football encounter. He was terribly cocky and terribly correct about the abilities of Joe Namath and the achievements of the New York Jets. All this is sports history and some wives and mothers still can't believe that the football season is over for another four months.

But Broadway Joe lingers on—rather roars on. Some psychiatrists are saying that he enjoys such immense popularity because he breaks the rules of town and country and gets away with it. Mr. Normal Sports Fan does not have the high-powered car and the high-rise apartment complete with white rugs and built-in bar. For millions, according to this psychology, find the antics and accomplishments of Namath to be the fulfillment of their fantasies.

A fair number of the Joe Namath fan club are proud of this Pennsylvania coal mining community graduate for his rise to fame from obscurity. He represents the matinee hopes of many people who have to endure the grind of time clock and mortgage payments. He is or was like them but now he has it "made." They are enjoying his victory—even at a distance.

Some recent interviews have shown a different side of Broadway Joe. He expresses a surprising sensitivity and alertness to some of the issues that have been smoldering in the ranks of youth. For six weeks last fall, Namath sported sideburns and a Fu Manchu mustache. This bothered some of the rigid locker room conservatives who believe that sports are crewcut, period. When a reporter asked Joe about his hair style, Namath replied after a long pause:

"The greatest guy in the world wore long hair and a beard."

The Namath philosophy became more audible as the Super Bowl classic turned out to be his biggest victory yet. So certain was he of success that champagne was ordered for the dressing room celebration following the contest. This was rejected by Mr. Woodward, president of the American Football League. Joe sulked awhile, and then jarred a few million readers in Life magazine by saying:

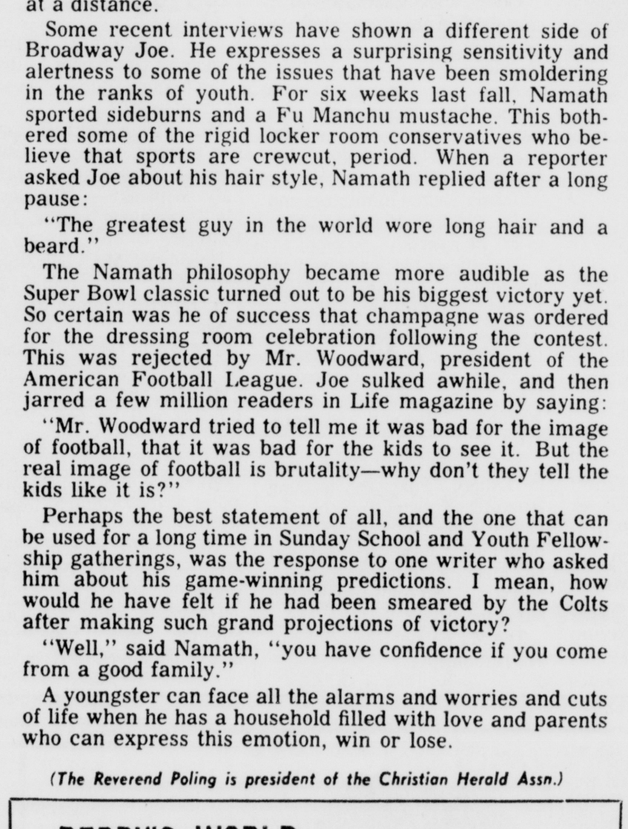

"Mr. Woodward tried to tell me it was bad for the image of football, that it was bad for the kids to see it. But the real image of football is brutality—why don't they tell the kids like it is?"

Perhaps the best statement of all, and the one that can be used for a long time in Sunday School and Youth Fellowship gatherings, was the response to one writer who asked him about his game-winning predictions. I mean, how would he have felt if he had been smeared by the Colts after making such grand projections of victory?

"Well," said Namath, "you have confidence if you come from a good family."

A youngster can face all the alarms and worries and cuts of life when he has a household filled with love and parents who can express this emotion, win or lose.

Don't tell us that six no-trump is a better contract than six hearts. We know it is. Playing at six no-trump either North or South can lose the heart finesse to West's singleton king and make the slam by means of a squeeze.

Six no-trump is very easy to bid provided North opens with one no-trump as he should. South doesn't need to bother showing his four-card heart suit but can simply go right to the no-trump slam.

However, this North decided to open with one club. South had a normal one-heart response and after North jumped to three hearts it was difficult for South to bid the slam anywhere but in hearts.

It didn't take South long to find a way to get set. He won the club lead in dummy, led a heart and finessed his queen. West made his singleton king and there was no way for South to avoid losing a second trump trick.

South complained about bad luck, his partner's club opening and everyth'ng else he could think of and there was some merit to his complaints. A suit breaks 3-2 some 68 per cent of the time but there was no reason for South to lose his slam against this particular bad trump break.

South should have played his ace of hearts instead of the queen. There was no way for him to avoid the loss of two trump tricks if either opponent held four to the king. The play of the ace would be a safety play designed to guard against a singleton king in the West hand.

Of course the ace play would have cost him a trick if East had started with a doubleton king but that would have been an overtrick. South should not have been thinking about overtricks. He should have taken the best play to make his contract.

Letters to the Editor

LYMAN C. KEUPER (516 Sunset Drive) — Hurrah to City Council for passing the ordinance reducing speed limits from 55 to 40 miles per hour on the West section of Highway 50. This, no doubt, will save some lives in time to come. We hope the highway department approves it.

Now let's look around at some of the other "danger zones" that exist. The one uppermost in my mind is the stretch of North 65 from the MoPac overpass to the intersection of Broadway and Limit Ave. According to the highway speed signs, you can come over the overpass barreling at 45 miles per hour, bust right thru the extremely busy intersection at the same speed, then reduce your speed to 30 miles per hour after going thru the intersection.

In this short stretch from the overpass to Highway 50, we have the Christian church with a large congregation on the west side, the Smith-Cotton High stadium on the east side, then Third street, a very busy thoroughfare, where there have been numerous serious accidents. Then a little farther south, the Heber Hunt elementary school, the largest in the city. Its western boundary play grounds face the east side of 65. The main school crossing then is at Fifth street and 65 Highway. We do have a blinker light at this corner and the City furnishes a Patrol Officer before school opens of a morning and also when school is out in the afternoon. But what about all the rest of the time when there is no Patrol Officer, especially during the three months vacation time?? What I am trying to convey is that this is a very highly congested part of highway and the traffic is getting heavier each day. So why, at the risk of life and limb, do we have a speed law of 45 mi. per hour on this part of 65, when east and west 50 have 35 miles per hour. I know that the highway department intentions are to get the traffic thru a city with all possible speed, but I feel that this 45 miles per hour is clear out of line and dangerous on 65.

There are only a few blocks from the overpass to Highway 50 and if they would reduce this speed to, say 30 or 35 miles per hour and save the life of one child or one pedestrian, I would say it was certainly worth the effort. What do the rest of you folks think about it, especially you people who have little kiddies going to Heber Hunt School? Let's hear from you.

MRS. WILLIAM TURNS (2509 Plaza) — I think personally the time has come for some of our responsible citizens to stand up and speak out.

I for one agree completely with Dr. Norris observations regarding the school bond vote and most particularly with his dismay over the criticism Bill Hall has been subjected to.

For a man to take on such a job in a community and receive personal abuse is just a pity. A question many of the people criticizing his role in the bond issue might ask themselves "don't you suppose our schooling is one of the many considerations of a company thinking of locating in Sedalia."

A duty each generation must assume is the obligation to educate our young people and give them the best possible facilities for that purpose. Someone paid taxes for our education. The losers in this vote are the generations coming up, and it is a crying shame for them to become the victims.

For the time, effort and evidently thankless job Bill Hall performed for the citizens of Sedalia, I would like to say a heartfelt — Thank you.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q — Are lump sum Social Security payments taxable?

A — No. All Social Security benefits are tax exempt.

Q — My wife is filing her own return. Can I still claim her as a dependent?

A — No. When she files her own return she takes her own exemption. You may not take an exemption for her unless you file jointly.

Remember that when separate returns are filed, each must handle his deductions the same way. If one itemizes so must the other. If standard deductions are used, both must use the same type, either the 10 percent or the minimum. The use of the 10 percent standard deduction by one spouse obligates the other to do so.

Also, be sure to use the tax table or rate schedule for married couples filing separately. An error frequently made on separate returns is to compute the tax using the rates for married couples filing jointly.

War Effort in Biafra Owes Much to Science

UMUAHIA, Biafra (AP) — Biafran scientists are turning out a variety of make-do products, ranging from rockets to "survival liquor," to aid the war effort.

"Truly, necessity is the mother of invention," said a 32-year-old nuclear physicist, fingering a bottle of the 80-proof brew.

The scientist, who declined to be identified is a top officer of a little-publicized organization called the Biafra Science Group. Many of its 100 scientists hurried back from foreign universities when secession was announced and the war with Nigeria started 19 months ago. The group has a technical staff of 2,000.

Using available materials and junk, the scientists have concentrated on weapons production. But one of their major developments is a refining system for crude oil pumped from scattered wells in the rebel state.

At least one major refining station has been set up in Biafra, and there are several portable refineries.

"It is not hard," said the physicist. "You take an oil drum or clay pot and start boiling."

The Biafrans had a refinery when they controlled Port Harcourt, a coastal city in the former eastern region. After the city fell to the Nigerians they depended on stores that gradually dwindled.

The new system, said the scientist, "can be considered a breakthrough in solving our fuel situation, although full needs are not being met by any means."

But the number of cars, motorcycles and trucks in Umuahia indicates that gasoline, engine oil and diesel oil are in fairly good supply.

The physicist displayed a three-foot-long rocket sitting on a launcher made of galvanized iron pipe.

"It has been in service for quite some time," he said. "Of course there is an erratic element involved."

Next was an ominous looking box the shape and length of a coffin. "It is called Ogbunigwe —Mass Killer," said the guide. "It is a mine and it can give some trouble to a Saldin," a British-made armored vehicle used by Nigeria.

Other weapons include grenades made of galvanized pipe and parts of abandoned vehicles and specially designed Molotov cocktail bottles.

Tasks of the 'First Lady' Mature Through the Years

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

The term "First Lady" reportedly was coined in 1877 to refer to Mrs. Rutherford Burchard Hayes at the inauguration of her husband, the 19th president.

Searching for a colorful title, a magazine writer covering the event came up with "First Lady," and in that small exercise of journalistic craft endowed the president's wife, for the first time perhaps, with a public identity distinct from that of her husband.

Yet it was to be a half century before the First Lady role evolved into a public job in its own right.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in serving as the eyes and ears —and sometimes voice—of her polio-afflicted husband, took the First Ladyship out of the White House and into the world.

Now Mrs. Richard Nixon is taking over what is probably the most demanding public job a woman can hold in this country. It is a job that has changed over the nearly two centuries of American history from one of concern for superficial niceties as White House hostess to one of concern for the problems that beset an entire nation; but a job, in whatever form, that has subjected the First Lady to criticism no matter what she did.

The long maturation period—almost 150 years—was due not so much to the character of the women presiding in the White House as to the cultural climate that prevailed in the United States until very recently.

Woman's traditional role was to take care of the home and family and guests. They were not supposed to be educated (Lucy Hayes was the first college graduate among the First Ladies) and although Martha Washington worried about her bad spelling and usually had others write her letters, she was criticized only for her entertaining.

Her successor was Mrs. John Adams—the efficient, charming and very intelligent Abigail—who had to cope with the damp unfinished White House (where her wash became one of the most famous laundries in history hung, as it was, in the East Room.)

Dutifully Abigail arose every morning at 5 a.m. to start planning household matters so that her afternoons would be free for receiving visitors and making calls—calling being the foremost social observance of the day.

Be-turbaned, plump, gregarious, Dolly Madison was something of an early-day Perle Mesta. A hostess who threw extravagant parties—and no one ever complained about the cost—in which probably more affairs of state were settled than in the halls of Congress, she created a vigorous social life in Washington as an adjunct to government.

It's possible the First Lady role might have matured sooner if the country during the 1800s hadn't seen a long run of daughters and sisters and nieces holding forth in the White House for presidents with invalid wives or no wives at all.

By the time they reached the presidency Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, Martin van Buren and Chester A. Arthur were widowers.

James Buchanan and Grover Cleveland took office as bachelors, although Cleveland later married his 21-year-old ward Frances Folsom, who took over from his sister as White House chatelaine.

Attacks on First Ladies in print had begun as far back as Abigail Adams, who had fumed about criticism of her influence on her husband in anti-Adams newspapers.

In Mrs. Abraham Lincoln's time it was a kind of national sport to make fun of the dumpy little overdressed woman—called "the hellcat" by her husband's secretary—who didn't know any better than to wear rings over her gloves and who spent far too much for clothes, especially the $2,000 second inaugural gown.

As with Abigail, Mrs. James Polk, the first wife to become the presidential private secretary, read criticism of her influence.

A striking brunette with deep religious convictions, Mrs. Polk thoroughly irritated Washington society by banning from the Executive Mansion alcoholic drinks, dancing and card playing.

Another teetotaler was the happy, good-natured Mrs. Hayes, admired around the country for her stand against liquor in the White House but ridiculed as "Lemonade Lucy" by disapproving party-loving Washingtonians.

Edith Bolling Galt Wilson, the second wife that Woodrow Wilson took while in the presidency —his first, Ellen Wilson, had died in the White House—carried the heaviest burden a First Lady has had to bear.

In 1919, seven months before his second term ended, President Wilson suffered a paralyzing stroke, and the First Lady took over as presidential spokesman. She screened the government problems to discuss with him, and it is still not known to what extent decisions were hers. She called this period her "stewardship" but critics called it her "regency" and said she was acting president.

In 1933 Eleanor Roosevelt moved into the White House and expanded the role of First Lady to encompass humanities' needs. She championed causes wherever she found them, represented her husband in smoke-filled rooms, wrote a syndicated column and held press conferences for women reporters, which no First Lady heretofore had dared do. Controversy and criticism swirled around her, but long before her death in 1962, she was known as "the First Lady of the World."

The president's wife most admired and slavishly copied for her beauty, style and cultural interests was Mrs. John F. Kennedy. In the two years before her husband's assassination, she brought fresh luster to entertaining in the White House she had redecorated.

Her successor, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson was a doer, a term she popularized, in the Eleanor Roosevelt tradition. She was indefatigable in her efforts to beautify America, to give disadvantaged youngsters a head-start in life, to improve the quality of education, all the while creating an "island of serenity" for her hard-pressed spouse.

Now it's Pat Nixon's turn.

Roadrunners Take Third Encounter From Whiteman

Phillips Hits Two

Dick Phillips, (22), State Fair Roadrunner forward, completes another Roadrunner tally through a tough Whiteman AFB defense. The Roadrunners won the contest by a 12-point margin, 70-58. Dave Bratcher, (42), was high Roadrunner scorer for the game with 19 points, and Phillips was second with 13.

Defeat Missileers 70-58 Friday Night

The State Fair Community College Roadrunners maintained their No. 1 national standing in defense by ousting the Whiteman AFB Missileers 70-58 Friday night—the eighth consecutive voctory on SFCC's home court, and 12th win of the season.

The Roadrunners have lost four games in their first full season of play, and face two more road games before closing the season with two contests at home Feb. 20 and Feb. 25.

It was Parents Night at State Fair Community College and the Roadrunners put on one of their best team performances of the year, according to Coach Fred Wehking.

"We played straight man-to-man and our team work was better than it has been all year," he said.

The Roadrunners and Missileers battled for the lead the better part of the first half of action. But a man-to-man defense helped the Roadrunners pull out of a see-saw contest and take a 34-27 lead into the second half of play.

Dave Bratcher again paced the Roadrunner scoring attack, hitting the nets for nine field goals and a free throw for 19 points before fouling out. He collected 21 rebounds in the process.

Steve Lower, who hasn't seen too much action with SFCC this year, came into the contest Friday and hit for three key field goals that helped SFCC pull ahead of the Air Force team.

The same went for Dick Phillips, who collected five field goals and three from the charity line for 13 tallies—most of them in clutch situations when SFCC needed a boost the most.

Top gun for the Whiteman squad was Elmer Mallory with four field goals and six free throws for 14 points, followed by Simon Brooks' 4-4 combination for 12 points.

Next Thursday the Roadrunners travel to Bolivar to meet the Southwest Baptist College junior varsity in a rematch. SFCC defeated Southwest Jan. 30 in Sedalia.

Friday's scoring:

SFCC 34 36 — 70
Whiteman 27 31 — 58

Individual scoring:

Roadrunners—Greg Larid, 2-1-4; Gayland Lightfoot, 5-2-12; Dick Phillips, 5-3-13; Dave Bratcher, 9-1-19; Ron Kiderlen, 3-4-10; Steve Lower, 3-0-6; Jerry Wright, 1-0-2; Mike Turnbull, 0-4-4. Missileers—Roy Modkins, 2-0-4; Jim Frey, 1-3-5-; Sim Brooks, 4-4-12; Joe Meachem, 3-0-6; Dave Galati, 1-0-2; Ron Davis, 2-2-6; Elmer Mallory, 4-614; Taylor, 4-1-9.

Crown Yearbook Queen

Miss Sheri Holt, freshman secretarial major from Knob Noster, was crowned Yearbook Queen Friday night at State Fair Community College's first yearbook ball.

Attendants were Miss Rita Galloway, elementary education major from Windsor, and Miss Brenda Jonson, history major from Sedalia. Escorts for the girls were Bill Countryman, Sedalia; Steve Smith, Smithton; and Pat Wood, LaMonte.

The dance, held in the SFCC student union building, took place immediately after the Roadrunner victory over Whiteman Air Force Base. Special guests for the dance included board members and their families and parents and relatives of the Roadrunner ball team members.

The student union was decorated in the official school and yearbook colors of blue and white. The predominate stagepiece was a large mock-yearbook painted to correspond with the first SFCC yearbook which will be coming off the press the middle of May, 1969.

Gary Lee and Larry Nuzum sketched and painted the school crest on the backdrop to correspond with the final yearbook copy with the embossed crest on its cover.

MU Uses O-State Dry Spell

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Missouri capitalized on a 10-minute Oklahoma State cold spell to build a comfortable margin, then coasted to a 73-52 victory over the Cowboys in the Big Eight's regionally-televised basketball game Saturday afternoon.

It was the Tigers' biggest margin of victory in history over OSU. The previous was a 70-55 in 1960. The outcome left both teams with 3-4 Big Eight records and 10-8 season marks.

Missouri broke out of a 10-10 tie to grab a 31-22 halftime lead as OSU hit only one basket in the last 6½ minutes of the first half.

The Cowboys also went three minutes into the second half before getting another fielder, and by that time Missouri had widened its gap to 15 points. The Tigers' margin crested at 65-41.

Don Tomlinson led five Missouri players in double figures with 15 points. Gene Hawk was high for Oklahoma State with 16.

Missouri outshot the Cowboys 51 per cent to 35 per cent from the field and had a 39-33 edge in rebounding, with Tomlinson grabbing 11 for the Tigers.

Changes Made In Released NL Schedule

CINCINNATI (AP) — There have been some changes made in the National League's 1969 schedule, released by president Warren C. Giles.

First, of course, is because the league has been expanded to 12 clubs, with the addition of Montreal and San Diego.

But, of even more importance, is that for the first time in its 94-year-old history the league will be split into divisions with the winners in each division meeting at the end of the regular season in a best-of-five series to determine the league championship and its representative in the World Series.

There will be both intra-division and inter-division competition during the regular schedule. Each team will play nine games at home and nine away with each club in its own division. Competition with teams in the other division will be on a basis of six games at home and six away between the clubs.

The league's Eastern Division will be made up of Chicago, Montreal, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and St. Louis. The Western Dvision will consist of Houston, Los Angeles, Atlanta, Cincinnati, San Diego and San Francisco.

Ninth Grade Tigers Defeat Harrisonville

Coach Wes Wanders' ninth grade A team Tigers romped over Harrisonville 57-34 in Clinton Tournament play Feb. 6 High point man for the Bengals was Steve Hertzberg, who had 18 points.

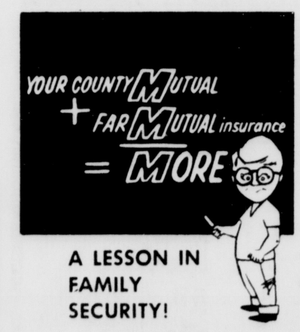

The ninth grade will meet Warrensburg Saturday at 8:30 p.m. for championship play, as the Wildcats of Warrensburg defeated Knob Noster Thursday evening.

Seven teams are involved in the tournament this year. It began on Feb. 5 and will come to a close with this championship game.

Explorers Hold Cage Tourney

Explorer scouts from Sedalia and area posts participated in the Second Annual Lake of the Ozarks Explorer Council's Basketball Tournament. The tourney was held from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday in the Sacred Heart Gym and was hosted by the Sedalia posts.

Over 100 explorers played in the ten game double elimination tournament, coming from Tipton, Eldon and Jefferson City.

Two Sedalia posts captured two out of the top three positions in the hard-fought match so they battled it out for the number one spot. Coming out on top in the play-off competition was Post 65, sponsored by the Broadway Presbyterian Church of Sedalia. Second was Post 52, sponsored by the Mark TWAIN PTA. In the third position was Post 95, Tipton.

Trophies were presented to the winning teams by Louis Hughes, president of the Lake of the Ozarks Council, and were furnished by Procter Building Materials, Tipton.

Beard Is Tops In Tourney

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Frank Beard moved from behind to take an early lead after 63 holes Saturday in the $122,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

Beard, three strokes off the pace as the fourth round began in this 90-hole marathon, fired a four-under-par 32 on the first nine at the par 36-36-72 La Quinta Country Club and posted a score of 241. This was 11 strokes under par for 63 holes.

Rod Funseth, who had led in the second and third rounds, fell back with a 39 at La Quinta and made the turn in 245.

It was a bright day, temperatures in the high 70s, and thousands of fans trooped over the four courses in play.

Orville Moody, a 35-year-old former Army sergeant from Killeen, Tex., had 34 for 243. Moody, who supervised Army golf courses during his 14-year Army career, graduated from the PGA training school in 1967 and joined the tour last April.

U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, runner-up to Funseth the past two days, shot 37 for 244. He was tied at this point with Art Wall, who had a 35.

Petit Duc Surges To Win Race

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Petit Duc, a chestnut horse from the Argentine, surged to the front in the stretch and won the $64,000 Seminole Handicap at Hialeah Park Saturday as Funny Fellow finished second and the favored Iron Ruler came in third.

Petit Duc, under Craig Perret at 114 pounds, ran the 1⅛ miles in 1:48 3-5 and won by 1¾ lengths.

It was another one-half length back to Iron Ruler, 2-1 choice with the crowd of 24,557.

Abe's Hope finished fourth followed by Spring Double, Tropic King 2nd, Out the Window, Subpet, Beaukins, Irish Dude and Mister Brogann.

Specter of Strike Looms Over Baseball

Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers is wearing a dark blue business suit, Richie Allen of the Philadelphia Phillies is wearing bright blue bell-bottom pants, Joe Torre of the Atlanta Braves is wearing a turtleneck sweater and Jim (Mudcat) Grant of the Montreal Expos is wearing a wool and leather African dashiki.

And they are four members of a union that is threatening to strike.

That is the paradox of probably the most serious situation facing major league baseball in its history, the specter of a general strike for the first time in the 100 years of the sport called the national pastime.

There has been the threat of a strike hanging over the sport ever since October, but it has been generally dismissed as a threat and no more. However, action was taken this past week on the 18th floor of that midtown hotel that drew the battle lines sharper than ever before.

Making their most militant statement after a four-hour meeting of some 125 players—the largest mass meeting of players in baseball history—the players reaffirmed their decision not to sign contracts and for the first time agreed to boycott spring training.

The key words in the statement issued were: Players "should not report to spring training sites until the negotiations are satisfactorily concluded."

At the center of the dispute is the players' benefit plan and pension monies, but it is the wording of the agreement on the monies between the players and owners—or, rather, labor and management—that is the key here.

The agreement now expiring calls for $4.1 million to be put into the players' rights to radio and television revenue. The statement issued after their most recent meeting states that clearly:

"The most important of the roadblocks (to a settlement) is the position that the funding of the benefit plan should be completely divorced from national radio and television revenue even though the two have been directly tied for the last 22 years.

The owners' position was reaffirmed last Tuesday in Miami when they issued a statement that "there shall be no relationship between radio and television revenue and the clubs' pension contributions."

Simply stated, the owners want the pension money to be a contribution on their part; the players insist that as the stars of the productions they are entitled to, and have rights to, share in radio and television revenue.

What is involved may be derived from these figures: Last year revenue from local and national telecasts alone brought in $27 million. By comparison, the total payroll for the players in the majors was in the neighborhood of $11.5 million.

Several Grid Decisions In Advance of Meeting

NEW YORK (AP) —There still are five weeks before pro football's 26 teams assemble in Palm Springs, Calif., to plot the shape of the sport in 1970, but it's a virtual certainty that the following decisions already have been dictated:

—There will be no realignment of the two leagues, the American and National football leagues maintaining their current structure, and equally important, their current identities.

—There will be a considerable number of inter-league regular season games, counting in the standings. The best guess now is that each AFL team will play four NFL rivals.

—The predseason schedule of clubs in both leagues will almost totally consist of inter-league games, furthering the separate identities of the leagues and fully exploting the economics involved in the inter-league rivalry.

The conclusions reached above have been drawn by The Associated Press after several weeks of talks, both on and off the record, with pro football's club owners. These talks were conducted both prior to and after the stunning triumph by the AFL's New York Jets over the NFL's Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl.

The conclusions are based on the following:

—Since the merger agreement of June 8, 1966, ended the AFL-NFL war, exploitation of that rivalry in pre-season games has proved extremely rewarding in the most important way possible—economically.

—Any reshuffling that would destroy the separate identities now fully established in the mind of fans throughout the country also would destroy the Super Bowl—pro football's premier attraction.

—The Jets' Super Bowl victory, in the eye of the fan, ended the myth of NFL superiority and established AFL equality with the older league.

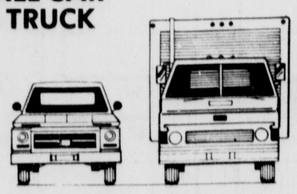

—The scheduling of enough inter-league games should satisfy even the most stubborn proponents of a reshuffling.

Everything, of course, awaits to be officially determined by vote of the 26 owners involved and will not ultimately be decided until they assemble for their annual meetings in Palm Springs, beginning March 17.

Daughter Torn Between Divorced Mother, Father

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Oh, please help me. My mother hasn't spoken to me for months because she thinks I am a traitor for not hating my father as she does. They are divorced. I love her dearly—but I love my father, too, as he is gentle, kind and so understanding that he keeps telling me how much my mother needs my affection. But I am tortured with guilt because she says I am a Judas who's betrayed her by loving my father, too. . . .

ANSWER: And you—what do you think you are?

Are you your mother, the hating ex-wife of your father—or are you that different person, their child?

Let's not get trapped in any of this nonsense about "quilt." There is no guilt in this situation. All there is is confusion—your confusion as to whether you're obliged to be your mother or are entitled to be what you are—the child of your father and of her.

Want to be your mother? O.K. Feel her feelings and assume her life. But I'm warning you that you can't involve yourself in such craziness without great danger. For she's going to die before you do. And when she does, what then? You'll have to die with her. Having assumed her life, you're going to have to give up your life when she gives up hers.

This woman is trying to rid herself of you, child, exactly as she rid herself of your father. She doesn't want people. All she wants is agreement. So before she dies she's going to find herself very lonely indeed. At which point it will be only humanly decent to rally to her what comfort you can. But it won't be effective. For people like your mother are sieves which leak everything you and I try to give them.

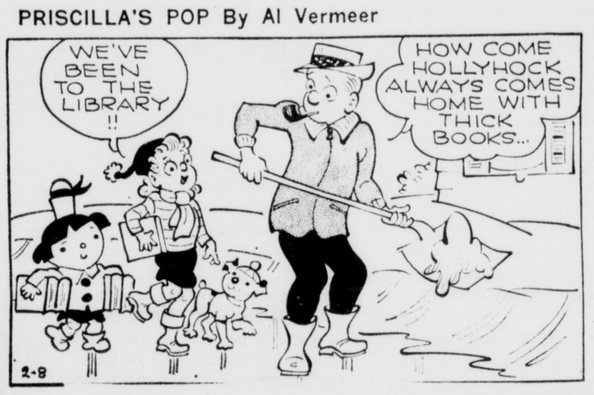

The problem is that she's just about convinced you that you're not yourself—but are she, your father's furious ex-wife.

She's cast a spell on you just as fairy tale witches cast spells on handsome young princes so powerful they actually believe themselves to be frogs.

This is a powerful witch, your mother. So I want you to look for a psychiatrist until you find one you like very much. For a psychiatrist we like very much serves us exactly as Beauty in the fairy tale served the Beast in the forest castle. His love destroys the witch's power to make us believe we're a beast. Like Beauty, he restores our true shape to us.

Tough Decisions From Even Tougher Problems

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Inflation and high interest rates are presenting potential homeowners today with problems more suited to financial experts. But they, rather than the experts, must provide the answers.

Should you, for example, obtain a mortgage now at 7.5 per cent interest or wait until money prices come back down to 6 per cent or so, which is the rate your friend received a few years ago?

The question has no easy answer. The fellow with a $25,000 mortgage at 6 per cent a year for 20 years pays principal and interest of $179.11 a month. You, if you took the 7.5 per cent mortgage, would pay $201.40, or $22.29 more.

This may seem rather unimportant to you, especially when the landlord of your apartment house might boost your rent by that amount in the next lease. But consider the costs over longer periods of time.

The man with the 6 per cent mortgage pays $2,129.32 a year or $42,586.40 over the 20-year life of his loan. You pay $2,416.80 a year, or $48,336 for 20 years, a total of $5,749.60 more.

Now that's nothing to overlook even for a banker. Do you wait, then, until a more suitable rate can be obtained? Perhaps, but in doing so you risk an indefinite delay in purchasing. Nobody knows when rates will fall. They may, in fact, rise even higher during the next few months.

Evidence of how high are present rates is provided by the experience some months ago of Financial Publishing Co., which distributes to banks and savings and loan associations a tabular book called "Improved Payment Table for Monthly Mortgage Loans."

This little book listed almost every monthly payment for just about any conceivable mortgage —but it's interest rates went only to 7 per cent. It had to rush a new book into print, eliminating lower rates, adding higher ones.

Financial Publishing is prepared to go even higher, and has in fact published a similar book of tables that goes to 10 per cent. Within recent days the ceiling on government-backed loans was lifted to 7.5 per cent, and some people already have paid more than that.

The book, incidentally, is available for $1 from the publisher at 82 Brookline Ave., Boston, Mass. 02215.

If, then, you decide to postpone buying you deny yourself the pleasure of a new home, especially one that might not again be matched in value, and a buildup—although admittedly slow—of an equity interest.

Even more important, from a financial viewpoint, are these factors: Your rent may very well be increased in the next year or so, and the price of that house you postponed buying almost certainly will rise.

Vote Depends On How Long Hair Is

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — The Wyoming Senate amended a proposed constitutional amendment Friday, giving 19-year-olds the right to vote—if, in the case of men, they don't have long hair.

The amendment, which didn't say anything about the length of women's hair, provided that haircuts of youths 19 and 20 must conform to military standards.

Glen Picks at Guitars Not Social Sore Spots

By JOAN CROSBY
NEA Entertainment Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Glen Campbell is nobody's man but his own. Glen is old-fashioned: he's patriotic, he cares, and he stands up for what he believes.

Glen is in 50-50 partnership with Tommy Smothers on production of The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour, the new CBS-TV series. But what is on the show reflects Glen's opinions, not Tommy's.

"When I did the summer replacement show, there were some things I didn't agree with," said Glen, "but I told Tommy I'd do them, because he was the boss and I was the employe. But I have also told him that what goes on this show reflects my views."

Glen's views are basically conservative. "Sure, we've got sore spots in our society," he says, "but you don't irritate them by picking at them. You try to heal them.

"I disagree with much that goes on in politics, but I go vote. I don't think I have the right to put my ideas into the minds of 30 million people."

Handsome Glen looks a decade younger than his 30 years. His two big recording hits, "By the Time I Get to Phoenix" and "Gentle on My Mind," made him a pop star. But he had been an anonymous success before that as a well-paid studio musician. One year he played 586 record dates.

"I don't know if I am acting," he says. "The part was not that heavy. I'd trot along on a horse and say 'Yes' to Duke Wayne. Back home in Arkansas, I used to go pick cotton to get enough money to go see Duke's latest picture. He was my favorite. When I met him, I felt just like a fan asking for his autograph. And I did. I'm Joe Idol anyway."

Glen Campbell
Keeps his ideas to himself.

Jean-Claude Killy
"But skiing is you."

* * *

Because immediately after he won three Olympic Gold Medals and proved himself to be the world's best skier, he began showing up on commercials on TV . . . because he has just started a series on CBS-TV . . . because he was the subject of an ABC-TV special . . . and because he was rumored about to launch a screen career—you assume, before meeting Jean-Claude Killy, that he is a shrewd young man, taking full advantage of his Olympic fans.

Then you meet the charming young Frenchman. His TV series is about his love: skiing. He is not going to act. "It was a very important decision," he says. "You can't start like this, at the top, and be a good actor. He deliberated before accepting the commercials, and he really wants nothing more than to be in his beloved mountains at his home in Val d'Isere, France.

"Skiing," he says in his soft French accent, "it's just fantastic. There is no noise, just the wind. It's a nice feeling."

When he races down the side of a mountain, Jean-Claude reaches speeds of 85 miles per hour. "If it is steep and you fell at that speed, you wouldn't get hurt. If the ground was flat, you could get killed."

The Olympics, he feels, are not a true test of an athlete's ability—"a man's whole career depends on two minutes."

He enjoys many sports, including surfing, sky diving and motor car racing. "Auto racing," he says, "is the most dangerous, and sometimes if you win a race (he won one in competition in Italy), it is the machine that wins. But skiing is you."

He has skied most of the world's famous slopes, many for the CBS series. "I have skied everything except Mount Kilimanjaro," he says. "I will do that next year."

After which they will have to change the spelling to Killymanjaro.

Free-for-All At Ft. Hood Stockade

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP) — A free-for-all broke out in the Ft. Hood stockade when someone cut off the lights in the day room where prisoners were watching television. Fifteen men were injured and two of them were kept for several days for observation.

Just as the lights went out, an unidentified prisoner threw a cigarette can through a window and the fight was on among about 50 GI's with chairs and cans being hurled in the darkness. Guards restored order in about three minutes, authorities said.

JUST SAY
KA-WA-SA-KI
THINGS YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW

1. WHAT IS KAWASAKI?
Kawasaki is the second largest manufacturer in Japan.
2. IS KAWASAKI NEW?
No Kawasaki was organized as a shipbuilder in 1878 and today has over 200 ocean going ships.
3. JUST WHAT DOES KAWASAKI DO?
Kawasaki is a manufacturing giant much like the ones in America. A few things they build are steamships, aircraft, submarines, buses, trains and motorcycles.
4. WHAT DOES KAWASAKI MEAN TO ME?
Kawasaki should mean transportation and a world wide network for getting things done.
5. BUT I LIVE ON DRYLAND,
CAN'T USE A STEAMSHIP, CAN'T FLY AN AIRPLANE, CAN'T AFFORD A TRAIN. I COULD USE A MOTORCYCLE.
6. TELL ME ABOUT THE MOTORCYCLE.
Well, you can rest easy now, Kawasaki motorcycles are manufactured to aircraft standards by Kawasaki Aircraft, Ltd., you know the builders of the F104 Jets, Virtol and Bell helicopters.
7. OH I DON'T GIVE A "RAT FINK" ABOUT JETS AND HELICOPTERS!
I know but maybe you should consider the engineering it takes to build them. It's these same aircraft engineers that design and build Kawasaki motorcycles. So when you purchase your new Kawasaki at Rev-Rac Center, you can rest easy and know you're getting quality equipment at a reasonable price.
8. WELL, I'LL BE * * KAWASAKI.
Yes, Kawasaki. We believe you deserve the best and there is only one way to get the best -- buy Kawasaki.

Ask Them Yourself

FOR HOWARD LEARY, Police Commissioner of New York City

What is the origin of the 13-state police alarm?—Conrad Fiorello, Brooklyn, N.Y.

● The original interstate-alarm system for wanted persons, stolen cars, and missing persons began with the 13 states in the Northeast. This has been expanded until today a police alarm can be sent to the entire country or to various groups of states, depending on the case itself.

FOR SEN. MILTON R. YOUNG of North Dakota

How many times and when was the last time the Federal budget was balanced?—Mrs. Art Rohr, Devils Lake, N.D.

● Based on information contained in the Federal budget for fiscal year 1969, the budget has been balanced 26 times since 1900. The last balanced budget was in fiscal year 1960 in President Eisenhower's Administration.

FOR EVELYN LINCOLN, personal secretary to the late President John F. Kennedy

Most bosses, particularly in politics, call their secretaries by first names. Is it true that the late President always addressed you as "Mrs. Lincoln"?—Matty Goyal, Rochester, N.Y.

● Our late President always called me "Miz". Lincoln. Although our relationship was extremely friendly, this lent a certain dignity to it. And, likewise, I never called him "Jack" as so many of the members of his staff did.

FOR LELAND P. DECK, personnel director, University of Pittsburgh

● A recent survey by the University of Pittsburgh Placement Service of 1967 graduates gives this information. Men under six feet (the lower half of the group in terms of height) reported a monthly salary averaging $701. The six-footers reported $719. The 6-foot, 1-inch men received an average of $723. The 6-foot, 2-inch men—those who seemingly meet the height qualifications to become a corporation vice president—received a mean monthly salary of $799—a 12.4 percent rise over the salary average of men under 6 feet.

FOR ERIC SEVAREID, newscaster

I've heard that you once took a very long and dangerous canoe trip. True?—W. F. Rainey, Jr., Spartanburg, S.C.

● I took a long canoe trip in my youth which resulted in a book called "Canoeing with the Cree." I wrote the book when I was 17; it has just been reissued.

FOR BONITA GRANVILLE, actress

● I am married to Jack Wrather, head of the Wrather Corp. (owner and producer of "Lassie"), and am one of the associate producers of that tv series.

FOR CARL YASTRZEMSKI, outfielder, Boston Red Sox

Do you think that due to superior pitching, batting averages will continue to drop in the future?—Ian Singer, Teaneck, N.J.

● As long as the umpires continue to expand the strike zone, I think the hitters will have difficulty. I believe that umpires are more responsible for the decline in batting averages than pitchers.

FOR LUCILLE BALL

Who was the little boy who used to play your son in "I Love Lucy"?—Marie D. Brown, Montrose, Colo.

● His name is Richard Keith.

FOR JERRY LEWIS

Why do you wear white socks on your tv program?—Larry Belt, Austin, Texas

● Because my feet get cold if I don't wear them. I hate making decisions about what color to wear, so I just have a drawer filled with white socks and grab a pair when needed.

FOR FRANK GIFFORD, sports commentator

What team did you predict would win the NFL championship?—R. S., Green Bay, Wis.

● Prior to the start of the 1968 football season, I picked the Dallas Cowboys.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Benefits Beyond the Fringe The U.S. Chamber of Commerce finds that the average employee gets $33.06 a week in fringe benefits. Vacation-time cost to an employer averages $5.21 a person a week, pension $5.02, the various insurance payments $4.88 (up 179 percent since 1957). Where does it all end? Fringe benefits are already 27 percent of some company payrolls now—and the trend is ever onward and upward.

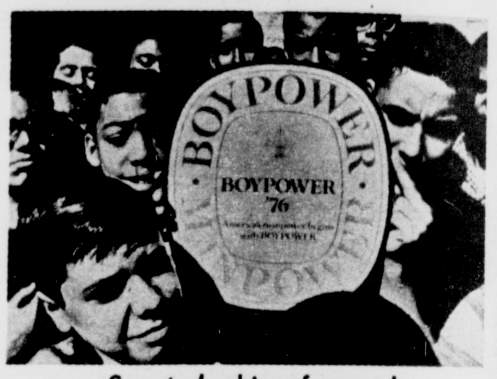

To Protect His Good Name Joe Garagiola of the "Today Show" has always pronounced his name garj-i-o-la. Everyone else, it seems, insists on garage-i-o-la. "It started when I was in baseball," Joe says, "with sportscasters telling me how to pronounce it. I ought to know my own name, but they wouldn't listen. So I made it a game. Now when I fly, for instance, the stewardess will ask for the spelling. Slowly and carefully, after the L, I say, 'Then an 'a,' then a 'b,' then a 'c,' then a 'd,' then an 'e'—until she catches on. I've gotten as high as 'h.' "

Happy Anniversary The Boy Scouts of America celebrate their 59th anniversary this week but are thinking mostly about Scouts yet unborn. With the birthday celebration comes a new long-range growth plan—Boypower '76—aimed at youth who will join the Scouts eight years hence. They will enjoy new Scout programs (space and computers, for instance) and participate with girls in high-school-level Explorer programs. Hopefully, one of every three boys will be a Scout then (now it's one in four), many drawn from underprivileged groups in the inner city.

Traveling-Man's Wife Here are some tips on how to live with a traveling husband: 1) give him your best send-off; 2) if things aren't okay between you, don't worry about another woman; worry about solving the problems; 3) take sensible security measures to protect yourself, your home, and children; 4) when you must make important decisions without him, imagine the discussion you'd have if he were there.

Dragon Hunter The Illustrious Order of Dragon Killers is preparing for its annual conclave in New York City next month, and all that's missing is a mascot. Albert Sadacca, founder of the organization and inventor of the Christmas-tree light (an invention that he parlayed into a world-wide enterprise, which freed him for more knightly pursuits), plans to pay a visit to Komodo Island in Indonesia, the home of the earth's last true dragons, to bring back a live 12-foot-long specimen. A word of advice, Albert (see photo): better bring along some more weaponry.

A noted divorce lawyer examines

By SAMUEL G. KLING

Author of "The Complete Guide to Divorce" and "The Complete Guide to Everyday Law"

A POPULAR misconception many persons have is that once they end an unhappy marriage, everything will become rosy again.

That's foolish. Thirty years as a divorce lawyer has taught me otherwise. Whether he or she knows it or not, the newly divorced person faces critical adjustments to a new life—social, economic, sexual, and emotional. And this is no easy transition to make!

Over the years, I've gathered considerable information on the subject of postdivorce problems, and I'd like to share this information with you. Here are the general problems the divorced person faces—and what to do about them:

What immediate emotional reactions does a divorced person usually experience?

He may completely reject the fact of divorce. This is exactly what happened to a client of mine—he wanted to have his cake and eat it, too. In his case, he insisted on remaining married while philandering to his heart's content.

After the divorce was obtained, the man refused to accept it. One of his favorite stunts was to telephone his ex-wife at all hours of the night and plead for a reconciliation. Other times, he would actually come to her apartment late at night while in an alcoholic stupor and put her in fear of her life. Terrified, the woman called her attorney, who phoned me, and we persuaded him to see a psychiatrist. He is presently undergoing therapy.

Others react differently. Emotionally strong, they don't overreact to the trauma of divorce, but rather plunge into a new world of social and business activities.

What sexual adjustment will the divorcee have to make?

It all depends on the nature, depth, and quality of the ex-husband's and ex-wife's sexual drive, his or her conscience, and how emancipated or conventional the individual is. In short, each individual has to work out his own sexual adjustment based on his personality, temperament, moral background, and the social climate in which he moves.

After divorce, who is able to make the better sexual adjustment?

The ex-husband. Studies indicate that the divorced male resumes an active sexual life, with one or more partners, a short time after divorce. One reason for this, of course, is that the male is the aggressor. After divorce, the average male can call up and date any one of a number of women, but the woman can't. It is a much more difficult adjustment for her, being less aggressive than the man. The result is that for many women sexual activity ceases almost completely after divorce.

What social adjustments have to be made after divorce?

One of the most important is the need to make new friends. After divorce, former mutual friends often take sides, depending on which of the ex-mates was "guilty" and which was "innocent" in causing the divorce. It is invariably the male, though, who finds himself bereft of old friends and who has to make the greater social adjustments. Everyone, in a word, feels sorry for the "helpless little woman"; she is usually believed to be the "innocent party," no matter what her part in the divorce itself.

The lamentable fact is that it is the man who has to seek new friends, and who develops feelings of loneliness, anxiety, and insecurity.

What economic adjustments have to be made?

These depend on the financial arrangements in the divorce decree—property settlement, alimony (if awarded), custody of any children, and the like. Normally, the earning power of the man remains constant; the woman's changes drastically. If no alimony has been awarded, she may have to return to her parents' home to live and return to work. If alimony is granted, it is the man who faces financial trouble.

In general, divorce reduces the living standard of both ex-spouses.

Are most divorced wives still awarded alimony?

No. Alimony is awarded to about one-third of all divorced women.

What is a common solution to the problems of the divorcee?

Remarriage. It provides companionship for the lonely, an outlet for sexual drive, as well as economic security for either the wife, husband, or both. Equally important, remarriage offers status to two people who were more or less rootless and emotionally dislocated.

What is the best way to manage the first few months after divorce?

The first few months are the most difficult and trying. Keeping busy is the best solution. Clubs, dating, bowling, social activities, movies—all these help one forget the past and prepare for the future.

Should a divorcee move in with parents following divorce?

Not unless the financial situation demands it. One of the signs of a relatively mature individual is the ability to stand alone and cope with problems as they arise. Moving in with parents often presents more problems than it solves.

How should you behave if you accidentally run into your ex-spouse?

Unless the divorce was bitter, with courtesy and respect. If seeing an ex-spouse becomes emotionally disturbing, then the wisest course is to make your apologies to your host and and leave as soon as possible.

Should you go into details about your divorce with friends?

No. The less said about the real reasons for your divorce, the better. A simple statement that you were incompatible should suffice.

How vulnerable are newly divorced people?

They are vulnerable in the extreme. With few exceptions, the average divorcee is lonely, despondent, and insecure. He needs companionship and, equally important, needs someone to restore faith in himself, to prop up his deflated ego. He thus tends to be drawn to anyone who shows him sympathy—a very dangerous move!

What are the risks involved when divorcees enter an affair rather than a second marriage?

A hasty second marriage based on nothing more tangible than sexual attraction can be disastrous. In an affair, as in courtship, the tendency is to put one's best foot forward. Marriage is something else again. In marriage, what is important are two relatively stable personalities who complement one another's emotional needs. If this is present, a second marriage is the best answer.

For the woman, getting involved in an affair can be a serious disadvantage since it removes the need for marriage. Many divorced men reason that if they can get what they want by means of an affair, they would be foolish to undertake a second marriage. An affair gives them the advantages of marriage with none of the responsibilities.

Happiness After Divorce

How long should a divorcee wait before remarriage?

A minimum of six months to a year. The divorcee needs time to regain his composure, to restore his sense of balance as well as humor, and to allow himself the opportunity to meet as many different women (or men) as possible so that he may choose more wisely the second time.

Just how successful are second marriages?

Available evidence suggests that second marriages succeed far more often than is usually thought. It was believed, for example, that those who divorced were, by personality, divorce-prone and that they would destroy a second marriage as they destroyed the first. That's not true. There is the strong evidence that many divorced persons make a success of the second marriage. In one study, 87 percent of the remarried divorced wives maintained that their present married life was much better than their former.

What are the chances of marital success when both parties have been married twice before?

Much depends on the individual. If they are divorce-prone people, this third marriage is likely to end in the divorce courts. This is so largely because of the individual's temperament, personality, and background.

What are the chances of a successful marriage for a divorced woman with children to a man who has no children?

A great deal depends on the man's temperament, personality, and age, as well as that of the woman. A widower or divorced male often marries a woman considerably younger than himself. In such a case, the children are apt to be young. Whether the man can accept having youngsters around him without their getting on his nerves is something he will have to decide for himself.

Moreover, there is always the consciousness that his wife's children are not his children. And, too, there is the complication of the real father's visitation privileges, which may prove embarrassing to the new husband. All this and more may prove discouraging. Yet there are many men who make the transition with relative ease and whose lives are enriched by the presence of children in the home.

If the mother remarries, what is the best arrangement for the father's visitation rights?

Having the real father visit the home of his ex-spouse whenever he wishes can be embarrassing both to the ex-wife and her new husband, as well as to the children. A good arrangement is to have the real father telephone well in advance of the time of his arrival to prevent embarrassing stituations. A good visitation arrangement, if at all possible, is to have the real father call for the children outside the home and on weekends.

Does the mother have full responsibility for all decisions concerning the children, or must she have permission from their father?

If the mother was awarded sole custody of the children, she has full responsibility and need not consult with her former spouse. If joint custody has been awarded, the approval of both is needed. In case of any serious conflict, the court will make the final decision.

How do you explain the fact that you are "dating" to your children?

If the children are too young to understand what a divorce means, no explanation is necesssary. If they are old enough to understand, a straightforward explanation should be given. As for the dating, older children should be told that you are going out because you need entertainment and diversion. In any case, answer truthfully.

How do you explain to children that you plan to remarry?

Simply by telling them the truth—you have fallen in love with someone and that someone is in love with you; that the prospective husband wants to take care of them as well as you.

Do most children adjust to divorce?

Probably not completely. Recent studies indicate, however, that it is not the divorce which leaves emotional scars but the conflict and hostility between the parents which led to the divorce. In short, it is the unhappy marriage itself that damages the child. In almost all cases, it is the mother who obtains custody of the youngster. Deprived of the steadying influence of a father, the child's personality may be distorted and complicated by feelings of hostility and guilt. The hostility may be directed at one or both parents. The feeling of guilt may be based on the fact that the child's loyalties are now hopelessly divided.

The simple truth is that a child needs both parents—since both have different sets of skills and attitudes to give him. He needs both a father and mother to give him a feeling of emotional security—a sense of belonging and of being loved. Losing this, a child often becomes confused, feels rejected and is demoralized, and often goes through life an emotional cripple.

Are second marriages successful when, for financial reasons, both husband and wife must work?

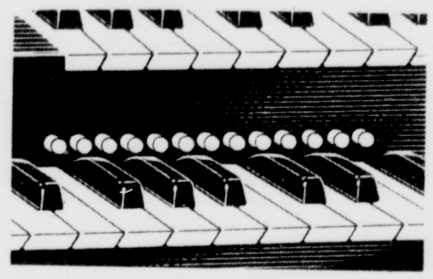

Yes, if both parties are reasonably mature and are willing to make some sacrifices.

Marriage is a partnership requiring the utmost cooperation. The husband, for example, should do every thing he can to ease the wife's burden by helping out as much as he can around the house. The wife must refrain from belittling her husband's inability to support her on his own income. But the fact that each spouse is willing to work to support the household is in itself an encouraging sign. ◈

Now—Developed by Over 1000 Arthritis Specialists and Doctors Working Together—a Needed and Medically-Approved Program to Overcome Arthritis!

Arthritis can be successfully treated. You can recover. Buoyant, pain-free living should be yours. A new 5-way practical plan of positive action causes pain and disability to go.

By William S. Kitay
Medical Science Reporter

If you've had Arthritis for years, have just had first twinges, are susceptible through heredity—or if you have a loved one who suffers from it, here's news.

Scientists have revised their viewpoint on Arthritis and what you can do about it. Science now knows that there is no universal sure-cure miracle pill or drug for Arthritis — and probably never will be.

The plain scientific truth is that you can recover from Arthritis with simpler means. Techniques now available can calm the pain, the activity of Arthritis, even lessen the damage.

What Researchers Discovered

A simple home treatment can get you back on your feet, give you new independence and return you to useful living.

It stops pain, reduces inflammation and swelling, gives greater use of your joints. Simply, it prevents or minimizes the misery and crippling of Arthritis.

It is a 5-Way method developed by over 1000 Arthritis specialists and general practitioners working together. It's surprisingly effective in even severe, complicated cases. Often it stops short pain and disability of NEW Arthritis sufferers—virtually as first symptoms begin.

ARTHRITIS DANGER QUIZ!

- Will the juice of one lemon in hot water before breakfast relieve Arthritis? Do special diets help? How does constipation affect Arthritis? Do laxatives help?
- How about Vitamin B-12, Vitamin C and orange juice, orange juice and cod liver oil, lemon juice and baking soda, honey, cream of tartar, multiple vitamins, vegetable juices, food supplements, mineral waters, and herb medicine? Does reducing help?
- Doctors and scientists have investigated virtually any remedy obtainable. You get a full report with the 5-Way plan.
- Will oils be absorbed by your skin and help lubricate a stiff joint? Does iodine help? Are dry skin or scalp or ear symptoms indications of Arthritis? Does how you eat affect how your body builds bones with calcium? Does Vitamin D stimulate the Adrenal glands and ease Arthritis? Are linaments as effective as heat lamps?
- What about a no-meat diet—or meat 3 times daily? No smoking or 3 cigars daily, sleeping with windows open—or closed? Or sleeping on the floor? Do vibrating machines help? Or health belts?
- Does curling up comfortably in bed relax—or cripple? Will a pillow under your knees when asleep give needed rest—or endanger your ability to walk? When can a small pillow under your head help—and when HARM?
- Will climbing stairs strengthen knees, feet, hips affected —or harm them? Will sitting in one spot avoid using painful knee and save more pain and stiffness—or increase chance of deformity? Should you keep covers off feet? Are long automobile rides good for you? Each year countless people worsen their own Arthritis—unnecessarily. Many give themselves pain—some cripple themselves for life—simply because—they don't know—or tragically believe they are helping and relieving their Arthritis.
- You get a blunt report in 5-Way plan described here. The misinformation, confusion, claims and counter claims and ignorance about Arthritis are cleared up. You get the truth about, and how to recognize and avoid, quack cures, "sure cures" and fake remedies.

Why Suffer Needlessly

How often have you done your work with arthritic pain stealing your energy and dulling your efforts? Or has it progressed even further, and you've looked with sinking heart at your hot, swollen joints and twisted fingers—actually brushed tears from your eyes because you became so dependent on others' kindness?

A remarkable organization—endorsed to do the job—has banded together the greatest medical drive in Arthritic history—to find the truth about—and OVERCOME ARTHRITIS!

Virtually every conceivable method to treat Arthritis has been investigated. Folk remedies, fake cures, cure-alls, wild hopes of medical science for new drugs—anything promising even alleviating relief, however, unorthodox, has been studied. Over 1000 doctors and scientists joined in. If any method worked, it was retested.

The frauds, the fakes, the false hopes were shown up. Full facts on new medicine—side effects—disadvantages—withdrawal—effects in different situations were frankly faced. The work goes on—searching for the miracle not yet found.

The Simple Truth

But the quickest, surest, safest methods yet found —when again and again proven in different situations—have been included in the 5-Way plan to give you greater relief from aches and pain, greater use of joints, faster resumption of activities.

Whatever form of Arthritis, however complicated or intensive, whatever age and arthritic condition, the flexible 5-Way plan adapts to help.

Here are the most effective techniques in single areas, around knee joint, shoulder, ankle, back of neck—techniques to improve circulation in your entire body.

Feel the Improvement—and Say "Yes" to Life Again

See and feel at home your 5-Way plan. Start your body on the way to painfree, normal living. Feel tight joints rest, relax, free up. Feel muscles tied in knots become more supple. Feel body tension ease, aches and pains, soreness, muscle spasms be relieved. Feel muscle tendons soften and stretch. Feel your body's full breathing range permitted again. Feel strength of needed muscles increase.

As you return full motion and range to joints, you're preventing and reducing chance of crippling. You're saving corrective action later. Because you have found the full facts about Arthritis and what to do about it, you've been restoring motion, strength and power to stiffened, weakened joints, increasing the range of joints, helping prevent weakening and deterioration of essential muscles important for walking, climbing stairs and getting in and out of chairs.

You've gained surprising independence from disabilities and you're feeling better than you have in years. You say "YES" to life again!

5-Way Plan In Book Form

The entire plan is now published in one easy-to-refer-to volume. You just use the information you need. What kind of Arthritis do you have? Rheumatoid to Osteo Arthritis—they're here (covering 95% of Arthritis cases) including Rheumatic Fever, Infective Arthritis, Gouty Arthritis, Shoulder and Hand Syndrome and Traumatic Arthritis—PLUS—the RELATED DISORDERS of Rheumatism, Bursitis, Tendonitis, Psychogenic Rheumatis — even Fibrositis, Fascitis, Tensosyvitis, and Myositis.

Get the facts about the Arthritis that strikes 10 men for each woman—and another kind that strikes 10 women for each man—the Arthritis most past 40 eventually get to some degree—the kind that attacks rugged outdoor men—and another kind that attacks thin, tense, intellectual types—the Arthritis that's the most common cause of heart disease under 40 and often affects children, and how best to minimize heart damage from it—Arthritis a vigorous cough makes painfully worse—a kind involving the upper spine arriving with headache, earache, sore throat, neuritis pains in arms, or stiffness in neck.

And more! The most ignored warning signals of Arthritis and what to do when you first spot them. Facts you should know about aspirin, gold salts, prednisone, cortisone hydrocortisone.

What food disorders can do to Arthritis and what you can do about it. The truth about Arthritic corsets and spine braces. What almost every patient first suffering from chronic Arthritis does wrongly that can cause deformity—unnecessarily.

Amazing 6-Months Guarantee! Available To Anyone

Any doctor, any arthritis sufferer, anyone susceptible to Arthritis, any family member or friend who wants to help may accept the amazing offer below.

It is not a 24 hour miracle cure. There is none. It's a way to help yourself and your doctor to overcome Arthritis, stop Arthritis, relieve pain and misery, restore action to crippled limbs, and give back normal, pain free living.

Only if after looking over the book and 5-Way plan for 10 full days, you're convinced you can be helped, is there any cost. Otherwise, simply return within the ten days for no cost. Diet Tip:

It's Not What You Eat–But When You Eat

By Dr. HARVEY D. SMITH
Founder and Past-President, American Society of Bariatrics

"BUT DOCTOR, I can't eat a thing for breakfast; then I get very hungry later in the day."

This is typical of the many excuses I hear from patients explaining why they can't lose weight "no matter how they try." Most people eat practically nothing at breakfast—and then burn up the day's energy. At evening meals, they eat many calories, after which they sit around doing nothing. If they would reverse this procedure and eat more calories of the normal breakfast-type food in the morning and less in the evening, 90 percent of overweight people would help themselves.

In 20 years of medical practice and bariatrics—the specialization of treating the overweight—it's obvious to me that the average obese person is not really capable of assimilating carbohydrates properly. The heavier he gets, the more he craves carbohydrates—and, of course, the heavier he gets.

For years we've discussed obesity on the basis of total calorie intake, not the type of calories or the time they are consumed. I have many patients who eat only 800 or 900 calories, yet who are gaining weight. I can put them on 1,500 calories and have them lose weight with a more balanced diet, taking most of the calories at breakfast and lunch. That's the secret of good dieting: to take in the same amount or more calories, yet lose weight—it depends largely on when you eat.

Breakfast should provide approximately 40 percent of the caloric intake, balanced between carbohydrates and protein; lunch, 40 percent; supper should not exceed 20 percent of the daily intake.

A good breakfast would be two slices of crisp, drained bacon and two eggs, two pieces of toast, fruit —a half grapefruit or orange— and coffee. If you just can't eat eggs, then beef patties or a small steak is a good substitute. Lunch should consist of meat and vegetable or a meat sandwich. A cheeseburger with lettuce, tomatoes, pickles, and bun adds up to 400-plus calories and is pretty well balanced, fast, and filling.

Five foods high in carbohydrates (20 percent) are corn, rice, potato, macaroni, and dried beans. Most vegetables have very little carbohydrates and are excellent diet foods.

Of course, every overweight person, before he enters any diet program, should be properly examined by a physician to find out first whether there is any medical reason prohibiting his dieting. I would never prescribe for any patient without first running a series of tests and learning to what extent carbohydrates and fat metabolism are involved.

Some people feel that they are really better off not thin. Some men and women, by being obese, find they are not required to take an active part in the community —or in marriage. Because of some quirk in their personalities, they prefer it that way. So a doctor should consider the psychological aspects of each case, too.

Other possible reasons for overweight include environmental and cultural factors. Some ethnic groups (Italian, Jewish) tend toward overabundant tables. Yet there are Indians in Mexico—I've worked with a tribe for more than three years—who eat sparsely and yet have numerous cases of obesity. This is because their cultural eating pattern consists almost totally of carbohydrates—corn, wheat, potatoes, and beans. That's what's available, and that's all they eat.

What it comes down to is this: many persons don't have to take diet pills, change their caloric intake, or constantly visit the doctor's office to lose weight. All they need do is reverse daily eating habits as outlined above, avoid excess intake of cabohydrates—and, in most cases, watch the pounds disappear. ◆

QUIPS AND QUOTES

Two elderly ladies checked into a sporty hotel in Miami Beach. The first thing they noticed was a little man circulating from guest to guest in the lobby, talking in low tones and collecting money. They were informed that he was a bookie, a man who takes bets on horses.

In vacation abandon, they impulsively decided to risk two dollars each. They lost. That night one of the ladies semed so unhappy that the other counseled her, "Doris, you mustn't cry over spilt milk. After all, it was only two dollars."

"It's not losing that's bothering me," Doris answered. "I was worrying about if we'd won. What would we have done with the horse?" —Dorothea Kent

Real Accomplishment

Any husband considers himself a success
At a job such as building a shelf
When he's able to stall to the point where his wife
Gets disgusted and does it herself.
—Ruth Chadwick

Little Susan was watching tv with her grandmother and asked, "What programs did you watch when you were a little girl?"

"We didn't have tv when I was a little girl," Grandma replied.

"Well, what did your mother turn off when you were naughty?" Susan asked. —Herm Albright

The next thing they ought to teach those robot toys to do is to pick themselves up off the floor.
—Anna Herbert

A business executive put on so much weight that his doctor ordered him to go into the hospital. There he was put on a strict diet. When the man's office staff sent him a large basket of flowers, the executive acknowledged it with a note that said: "Thanks for the flowers. They were delicious!" —Dan Bennett

"Not so fast. Watch out for that corner. Easy on those curves."

Custom fit for any dress you make guaranteed on this precision adjusting form—or no cost!

Aristocrat of Dress Forms

- "dial" your measurements into size computer—clip lock—form becomes YOU.
- Adjusts to regular, half sizes . . . many variations 8 to 20 (also model 20 to 50).
- Each shoulder raises, lowers. Each bust expands, contracts, raises, lowers.
- Waist narrows, widens, shortens, lengthens. Hips widen, narrow, raise, lower.
- Entire form gains, reduces with you—adjusts to other family members.
- Strong steel stand—and form take apart easily—stow away in drawer.

This form guarantees a custom fit expensive look to each dress you alter or make—or no cost. Yet it saves you money so fast it often pays for itself the first or second time used.

This custom fit form saves hours adjusting patterns and fitting cloths—up to 50% of sewing time. It saves struggling, twisting, turning—trying to get the right fit. It saves ripping out seams for a simple alteration, or just because your skirt didn't hang properly the first time.

THE SECRET OF CUSTOM FIT

While you smile—inside—at the money and time you've saved—at the end of embarrassment of poor fit "home made" clothes—or the success of your first dress making attempt.

The secret is custom adjusting of standard patterns to your differences (there's only one you). When you pin the pattern to an exact duplicate of you this adjusting is simple and easy.

This is because in each body area an ingenious size computer "dials" your measurements. A Tab (like a tape measure) slides through a slot under the area answer window. When your measurements appear in each window just clip lock in position. Automatically the DUPONT NEOPRENE processed body material has already adjusted—in each body area—to become YOU! Custom adjusting of patterns to you has become as easy as before it was difficult.

A LIFE SAVER FOR BEGINNERS

With it beginners easily make hems—adjust hemlines—make alterations so perfectly store bought clothes fit like made to order. You save the $3 to $5 paid before to fix a shoulder line—shorten a hem—take in a waist line. You're more satisfied with the way your clothes fit.

Fitting in this form is so easy you quickly form old dresses into new. Too tight or too loose—too large or too small dresses fit again. You easily alter, redesign, remodel your own dresses, coats, skirts, blouses. You begin to make your own simple dresses then more complicated ones. Later, you even design your own styles, and all on this form.

DOES MORE THAN ANY OTHER FORM

This master pattern maker's form has every possible professional dressmaker trick and short cut built right into it.

It's unlike any other form. To adjust there's no maze of wire and bolts to struggle with. Simply slide adjust and clip lock. It's pinnable—throughout. No gaps down front or side or around neck give difficulty.

The light steel stand is so adjustable, raises or lowers precisely to any point 4′ 2″ to 5′ 6″ (add length of your head from neck up to measurements of any form). It's handsome rubber tipped gives steady support. It assembles, takes apart easily.

The inventor has built a lifetime as master pattern maker for leading pattern companies into this form.

All his life – he designed dress forms – some of the world's most expensive – to give custom fit to the very rich.

But he built this custom dress form for you – to adjust more precisely than any other – do many dressmaker tricks others can't – yet costs a fraction of the others.

LUIGI CELLA DRESS FORMS Hold U.S. Patents #2922555, #3140021, #314022, #3140022.

Every adjustment—each contour line—the height range—the angle of the darts—posture angle of the form—all have been checked and rechecked by fashion fit leaders, home dress making authorities and fashion editors.

3. Mix a blend of water and cornstarch into boiling liquid in skillet. Stirring constantly, boil 2 to 3 min. Mix in browned meat and bean sprouts; heat thoroughly.

4. Serve over cooked rice. 6 servings

4. Garnish with parsley and orange fans made by cutting navel oranges into ¼-in. slices, cutting each slice into thirds, and overlapping pieces to resemble open fans.

AMERICA'S LATEST CRAZE:

Scuba Diving for Sunken Treasure

By WARREN SMITH
Author of "Finders Keepers"

SPANISH BULLION! Pirate gold! Rare jewels! Sunken payrolls! These priceless treasures are being scooped from the sea in 20th-century America's greatest underwater gold rush.

Treasure diving was once a sport reserved for rich men and professional deep-sea divers. But the introduction of relatively inexpensive scuba-diving equipment now has brought thousands of amateur divers into the water hunting sunken treasure ships.

"You can start into scuba diving for as little as $5 and go up to $5,000," says Ray Levin, the New York diver who is now working at a secret site in the Bahamas. "I started with a $200 purchase of used scuba gear, learned to dive at a YMCA, and found my first sunken wreck in Long Island Sound."

So if your appetite for adventure is whetted, here's what seasoned treasure hunters suggest you do. Check your nearest YMCA for advice on diving schools. Scuba-diving ships frequently offer classes. Some beginners save on equipment purchases by advertising in the "want-ad" section of their local newspapers.

Next, locate your treasure. Start your search at your local library. Read up on treasure diving, select a sunken money ship, and start a file on possible sites.

(Warning: Check the salvage laws in the states in which you plan to do your hunting. In some states, you may need a permit and often must divide your findings with the state.)

Newspaper files and government records will aid in pinpointing ships that have gone down since 1850. The White Star line's Republic, for example, was being towed to Boston on Jan. 23, 1909, when the vessel sank about 15 miles southeast of Nantucket Island. Some $3,000,000 in U.S. gold coins is still in the vault.

You can also glean information from fishermen, boat captains, and diving clubs.

One of the most lucrative finds in recent years occurred in Florida. Kip Wagner was beachcombing near Cape Kennedy one afternoon when he spotted an ancient Spanish coin in the sand. Wagner concluded a galleon had gone down nearby. After much research, he located it.

Wagner and several friends launched the Real Eight Corporation, hired divers, and started pulling millions from the sea. The group has recovered an incredible $4,000,000 from four gold-filled galleons —and they have six more wrecks spotted, worth an estimated $14,000,000!

So if you are ready to try your luck in the world's most adventurous hobby, start by investigating these treasure-crammed sunken money ships:

- The French Reine des Mers carried $200,000 in gold bars when she sank in 1875 during a storm off Brazos, Texas..
- A $250,000 Army payroll is in the wreck of the Brother Jonathan, which sank in 1865. The disaster occurred at St. George's reef, near Eureka, Calif.
- Five Spanish galleons disappeared in a hurricane in 1767 near the Bay of St. Bernard, Fla. They carried $10,000,000.
- Cape Hatteras is called "the graveyard of ships" by seamen. Scores of ships litter the bottom of these treacherous waters. They include four galleons which sank with millions aboard.
- The world's wealthiest treasure ship, the Grosvenor rammed a reef 300 miles south of Cape Vidal, Africa, in 1792. The ship's fabulous cargo included the "Peacock Throne" owned by the Grand Mogul of India and valued at $35,000,000. The vessel also carried gold, silver, and gems, bringing its total value to a fantastic $45,000,000!

Happy hunting! ◆

The tapes you want will be mailed and billed to you at the regular Club price of $7.95 (occasional Original Cast recordings somewhat higher), plus a small mailing and handling charge.

YOU GET FREE TAPES! Once you've completed your enrollment agreement, you'll get a stereo tape of your choice FREE for every two tapes you purchase!

MAGNIFICENT HAMMERED IRON AMERICAN EAGLE PLAQUE

Create the Ultimate Decorator Touch Over Your Fireplace -Mantle-Couch or Buffet with this Majestic Eagle

Imagine decorating your home with this authentic American Eagle plaque. Long a decorating favorite, this emblem of our national spirit—proud, valiant, independent—the Eagle graces many an American doorway and fireplace. Now captured in magnificent hammered iron, you bring new color and excitement to your home, office or den with this stunning masterpiece.

This superb decorating piece is a masterpiece of craftsmanship, too. The feathery plummage and handsome body is exquisitely worked in delicately wrought, hammered metal and accented with flourishes of gold. The total effect is one of such breathtaking beauty, it will be the focal point of your home. Unfortunately it is impossible to reproduce the full breadth of the three dimensional "sculptured" body from the small black and white illustration here. Only when you see it gracing your home can you fully appreciate the drama it brings to every setting.

SPECIAL DECORATING NOTE: Because this decorating emblem is so appropriate in so many settings—modern, traditional, contemporary—we suggest you order more than one to help carry out a theme or motif throughout your entire decor or to give as a handsome gift.

OFFER WILL NOT BE REPEATED THIS SEASON

We urge you to order your American Eagle Wall Plaque now, while the supply lasts. Hammered Iron Eagle plaques of this type sell for $9.00 to $20.00; however, because of our volume purchasing, we can offer this exquisite work to you for the amazing low price of only $3.98 postpaid on full money back guarantee if you are not absolutely delighted. INCLUDING IF YOU WISH

The COMPLETE ILLUSTRATED Book of The PSYCHIC SCIENCES

962. THE COMPLETE ILLUSTRATED BOOK OF THE PSYCHIC SCIENCES. Is there really a "Sixth Sense?" Are "hunches" merely intuition—or something more? Could you actually have ESP powers and not know it? Here for the first time in print is the most comprehensive and authoritative survey of occultism and psychic phenomena ever published. This huge "encyclopedia" details the practices and attested feats of seers, mystics, yoga masters, mediums—even voodoo priests. It describes the techniques claimed to influence dice through mind power . . . restore youthful vigor . . . dominate the thoughts of others . . . magnify physical strength ten-fold . . . banish the pain of illness . . . and much more. It also covers all known "rules" and techniques for reading thoughts, interpreting dreams, tea leaves, palms, head shapes, cards, numbers, the stars. (You may even wish to undergo the 15 tests for uncovering hidden ESP powers such as telepathy, telekinesis, precognition, etc.—they begin on page 377!) Absolutely everything you want to know is here between the covers of this incredibly exhaustive—and stubbornly uncompromising—book. Nothing has been omitted . . . or suppressed. From the experiments of parapsychologists to the delvings of occultists this is the one truly "must" reference work for anyone interested in psychic phenomena. Over 100,000 words. Profusely illustrated. Pub. ed. $5.95

The new UNIVERSE BOOK CLUB challenges you to explore the frontiers of human experience

Flying saucers: Are authorities covering up to prevent panic? Spirit healing: Do some doctors condemn it for your good, or theirs? Those power blackouts: Does anyone really believe "official" explanations? H-Bomb ban: Will Russia soon say Yes, because she has harnessed the far greater powers of E.S.P.?

Now — decide for yourself

For the first time a book club dares offer you the provocative new books that speak out on puzzling issues of our day. Some are best-sellers. But many others have been shoved to the back of the bookstore because they are "too controversial"—or ask too many "embarrassing" questions. These books challenge you to explore, and extend, the frontiers of human experience.

Bold new books — at big savings

Each month Club selections are described to members in advance. Although these new books sell for $4.95, $5.95, $6.95 or more in original publishers' editions, you pay only $2.49 plus postage and handling. (Occasional extra-value selections are slightly higher.) Accept only the books you want — as few as 4 in the coming year. You may resign anytime after that.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY—When I broke my arm and had to wear a cast for six weeks, I discovered that the cellophane wrapper from a loaf of bread was just right for keeping the cast dry when I took a shower. Rubber bands held the wrapper in place.—MISS C. M.

DEAR POLLY—When wearing pants and I want to wear nylons but not go through all the trouble of a girdle; I wear socks made from old nylons that were torn at the top. I cut these off a little above the ankle and sew elastic around the tops.—SMARTY

DEAR POLLY—If you dampen the back end of your flashlight bulb before putting it in your camera the bulbs will be more likely to always flash. There are fewer wasted pictures.—JOAN

DEAR POLLY—When your favorite dress is beyond repair, do not discard it. Rip it apart carefully and press each piece. Use spray starch as you iron to give the pieces more body. The result is a pattern for a new dress that will fit.—MRS. C. H.

Polly pays a dollar for every idea used. Send them to her, care of this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY—My aged mother had an injured eye which kept me from washing her hair until we started to use a child's shampoo eye shade. She sat in the tub with the shade on her head and I washed her hair. The shampooing made her feel so much better and there was no fear of getting soap into her eyes.—MRS. E. Z.

DEAR POLLY—I had a useful cutting table made from a piece of plywood with two corners rounded. The other corners are fastened with small hinges to the wall and legs were put on under the rounded corners. Fasten screen door eyes on the sides and put the hooks on the wall. When not in use it can be fastened on the wall out of the way. This could be made for any desired height.—ETHEL

DEAR POLLY—A new wardrobe of maternity dresses was expensive for me to buy. I bought a regular dress pattern but cut two extra panels for each dress and inserted them on either side from the armhole to the hem. I stitched down about one-inch from the armhole before setting in the panel. After baby comes, I can take out the panels, stitch side seams together as they were first intended. An added bonus is a maternity dress that does not have the boxy, tent-like look.—MRS. G.

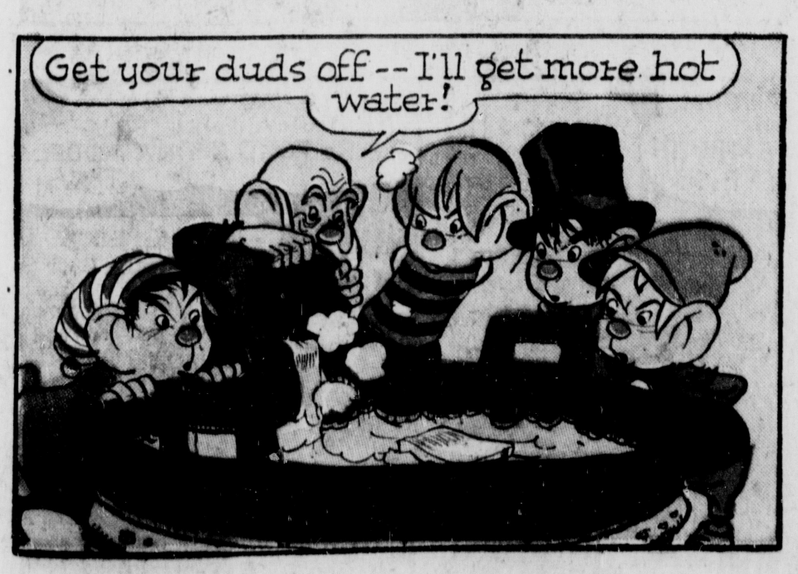

DEAR POLLY—A ball of nylon net makes an excellent clothes brush. Dampen the net slightly. Keep it on the ironing board to remove all lint as you iron.—MRS. J. R. M.
